Ike 'Shudders' At Thought of Foreign Aid Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Republican leaders today he shudders to think of the impact abroad if further cuts are made in his foreign aid program.

The leaders quoted Eisenhower as expressing that view at his weekly meeting with them. The conference was held as the House approached showdown voting on the aid measure.

House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts said he told Eisenhower he looks for the House to approve the bill in pretty much the form it came out of the foreign affairs committee.

As approved by that group, the bill authorizes $3.6 billion for mutual security — $339 million below Eisenhower's request.

Martin said he looks for a determined effort to cut the authorization further, but he predicted administration supporters generally will be able to turn back such moves.

"The President made it very clear," Martin said, "that he already shudders at the idea of any further cuts. He shudders to think how he could meet the world situation if there are any further cuts."

Preliminary voting was slated for late afternoon with passage expected Wednesday. Then it would be the Senate's turn to act.

Both Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-

Tex.) and Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.), the Republican leader, arranged for bipartisan pleas to their colleagues to support the program which Eisenhower says is vital for both the free world and America's own security.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.), acting chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said he was surprised at what he termed the lack of strong opposition during Monday's opening debate.

A KEYNOTE was expected to come on a proposal by Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.) to cut $340 million from the $1.6 billion the bill carries for arms and aid to 41 allies next year.

Bentley said he was not likely to win. He also called for an $85 million slash in the $185 million provided for general purpose economic aid. Rep. E. Ross Adair (R-Ind.) proposed trimming the $775 million earmarked for economic support of foreign defense programs.

Rep. William A. Dawson (R-Utah) offered an amendment to require congressional committees to include their spending of U. S.-owned foreign currencies in their budgets just as they now count dollars.

The committees don't have to budget foreign money outlays now. Dawson said this would show taxpayers that congressmen don't really indulge in free-spending junkets.

BACKS TREATIES — Former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter (left) told a Senate committee headed by Senator Theodore F. Green (right) that the U.S. should press in the United Nations for peace treaties between the Arab states and Israel. He said the U.S. should make it clear that "it is national policy that Israel is here to stay."

'You Auto Buy Now' Car Sales Top $61,500 in Drive

A total of $51,567 has been spent here since Friday morning for automobiles. That's the figure announced today by the Circleville New Car Dealers Assn.

The dealers are in the midst of a "You Auto Buy Now" campaign, designed to keep Circleville's business life healthy.

The drive was launched last Friday with a parade. Participating are new car dealers — Yates Buick, Clifton Motor Sales, Joe Moats, Ed Helwegson, Wes Edstrom, Harden Chevrolet, Pickaway Motors, Circleville Motors and Planagan Motors.

Also taking part are Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, Pickaway County Insurance Agents Assn., Pickaway County banks and financial institutions and The Circleville Herald.

The program, which has been lauded by President Eisenhower and business leaders across the country, is intended to help all Circleville business. The auto dealers are anxious that other businesses take an active part in the "buy now" drive.

TO DATE the dealers have sold cars to 38 persons since Friday morning. Sixteen more bought cars yesterday, thus adding the weight of their dollars to local economy.

They are Chester McCain, Ashville, Oldsmobile; Arthur Francis, 464 N. Court St., Pontiac; Charles Ramsey, 168 Haywood Ave., Plymouth;

Thomas Boyer, 115 E. Mill St., Ford; Shell Oil Co., Columbus, Chevrolet; Harlan Wilburn, Lockbourne, Chevrolet;

Watt Elrod, Lockbourne AFB, Chevrolet; Robert L. Young, Columbus, Chevrolet; Ed Hulse, Union St., Plymouth;

Melvin Swenson, Route 2, Kingston, Dodge; Charles R. Butler, Route 1, Chillicothe, Chevrolet; Vernon Louis Jenkins, 470 Half Ave., Oldsmobile; Willis Lowery, Route 4, Ford; Earl Seitz, Ashville, Buick; Arthur Leist, Route 1, Stoutsville, Buick; and Homer Adams, 316 E. Logan, Hudson.

As part of the "You Auto Buy Now" drive, the nine local dealers have been paying their employees in silver dollars. A rash of "cartwheels" in the community shows that the auto dealers are an important economic force in keeping the business life of Circleville in healthy condition.

Pflimlin Asks French Backing

PARIS (AP)—Pierre Pflimlin today asked parliament to approve him as the country's 25th postwar premier on a platform of limited home rule in strife-torn Algeria.

With the assembly benches packed and tense, the leader of the left-of-center Catholic Popular Republicans presented a coalition cabinet covering most of the middle road parties.

A vote was expected some time later tonight.

Pflimlin's Algerian policy, the key issue, is essentially the same as that of his predecessors. He told the assembly that France's allies must be brought to support French policy in North Africa.

"The essential aim of our foreign policy," the 51-year-old Pflimlin told parliament, "will be to extend Atlantic solidarity to that section of the world where the fate of France, and that of all free nations to a large degree is being determined."

WARSAW (AP)—The Soviet Union has run into trouble trying to launch a third Sputnik, a top Soviet scientist hinted Monday night.

Prof. Yuri A. Pobedonostsev said preparations for putting up a new Sputnik were nearing completion.

He was asked by a Polish newsman whether Soviet scientists ran into some kind of failure during launching attempts similar to the mishaps experienced by American rocket experts.

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—The new U.S. destroyer Blandy headed home today, her flag at half mast and the body of an unknown American soldier from World War II aboard.

The destroyer has a rendezvous off Norfolk, Va., with the missile carrier Boston, bringing the body of another unknown American World War II soldier from the Pacific.

One of the two will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery beside the body of America's unknown Soldier of World War I. The other will be buried at sea.

The flag-draped casket of the soldier from the European Theater of Operations was chosen from among 13 Monday at the military cemetery at Epinal, and was flown here.

Venezuelans Jeer Nixon; Hurl Rocks, Cans at Americans

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Jeering mobs of students spat on Vice President Nixon today and grabbed at Mrs. Nixon before police using tear gas drove them away. It was the most hostile reception the Nixons had received in their South American tour.

Rioters spat on Nixon as he arrived at the airport from Colombia, and then hurled tins and rocks at his car in downtown Caracas.

One youth grabbed Mrs. Nixon as she sought to enter the car, and yelled "Little Rock! Little Rock!" A Negro man shouted at Nixon: "Democracy! You don't like Negroes here."

Youths in the crowd shook their fists at the Nixons, crying: "Get out! Get out!"

Besides Nixon, Oscar Garcia, the foreign minister, and other Venezuelan authorities were spat upon. The foreign minister was livid with fury.

THE VICE president, winding up his tour of South America, arrived here amid rumors that he was to be the victim of an assassination attempt. In advance of his arrival, Venezuelan authorities had discounted these reports and given assurances that Nixon would be well guarded.

traffic jam and a mob of youths rushed on it, pounding on the doors, spitting and throwing rocks.

The jam was broken only after police exploded tear gas and an emergency detachment of soldiers rushed up.

A jeering, screaming mob of about 500 teen-agers met the Nixons plane at the airport.

As he entered the car they repeatedly spat on him and his car. He and Mrs. Nixon virtually had to fight their way into the caravan carrying them up a mountain road to the city.

The students carried signs, "Go Home Mr. Nixon, We Don't Forget Guatemala. No, Mr. Nixon We Don't Want You. Latin America Doesn't Want United States Intervention."

THE RECEPTION was as hostile as the one the vice president received when he tried to speak to students in Peru last week.

The rioting came on the heels of intelligence reports that the Communists might try to assassinate Nixon on his visit here. These reports were discounted by government officials.

There were only a few friendly shouts either at the airport or along Nixon's route into the city.

Nixon's aides received reports from both U.S. and Venezuelan sources that there might be an attempt against his life during his two-day stay in the Venezuelan capital. One version said a university student had been hired to gun him down.

Nixon himself described it as a "routine threat" and added, "if we changed our plans every time something like this came up, we wouldn't do anything."

Gabor Given Fur Coat for Introduction

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Did Zsa Zsa Gabor get a costly fur coat from Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. for introducing him to Kim Novak?

She has the coat and Trujillo, son of the strong man of the Dominican Republic, admits he gave it to her, but didn't say why.

"I introduced Kim to him," Zsa Zsa said, "and I arranged for him to take her to several parties. He is my dearest friend and very grateful."

Miss Novak also said Trujillo left a sports car, a sleek $8,400 model, with her but said she thought it was a loan.

Kim and Trujillo have been seen together frequently in Hollywood since Easter. Trujillo, head of his country's air force, came to the United States to attend the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

His lavish gifts drew criticism in Washington, D. C., from congressmen. Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) estimated that $1,300,000 will go to Trujillo's country if Congress passes the proposed $3.6 billion foreign aid bill. "I doubt if it makes the taxpayers happy," said Hays.

"It is his own personal money," said Trujillo's secretary, Victor Sued, of the gifts. "He owns sugar mills and has a dairy farm in the Dominican Republic."

Judge Prefers Chaw Tobacco

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—Forsyth County Judge Hoyle Sink, irritated as gum-chewing witnesses and defendants in criminal cases testified, suddenly stopped the proceedings and told one approaching witness: "You had better get rid of that chewing gum before you come up here. If you're going to chew anything, chew tobacco like a man."

Algiers Mob Toss Out Books

Angry Demonstrators March on Embassy

ALGIERS (AP)—Angry demonstrators today sacked the U. S. Information Agency office here and then marched on the American Consulate.

The USIA office was almost demolished. Furniture was smashed and books thrown out of the window and torn up in the streets.

It was the third violent demonstration against American centers in the Middle East in less than a week. Monday, Lebanese rioters sacked and burned a U. S. library in Beirut and last Saturday a similar library in Tripoli was demolished.

The demonstrations reflected rising anti-American feeling in Algeria. Many French here believe the United States would like to see Algeria independent of French rule.

The demonstrators broke into the USIA office in mid-afternoon. One group of demonstrators smashed in the front. Others smashed the outside nameplate on the office, which is on the second floor of an office and apartment building.

Don Davis of Great Falls, Mont., was in the office at the time but was unhurt.

AN AMERICAN source said that the demonstrators included a number of war veterans, who are among the most outspoken right-wingers in Algeria.

Two policemen on duty near the Algiers office did not interfere. The crowd was demanding that France keep a firm hold on rebellious Algeria.

The angry crowd then headed up the street to the U. S. Consulate about a mile away.

The demonstrations in the capital of Algeria were staged by students, right wing groups and others protesting the vote of the National Assembly in Paris on the investiture of Premier-designate Pierre Pflimlin.

Leaflets were thrown about the streets demanding that if Pflimlin became premier the French settlers in Algeria should use all means to keep his representatives out of Algeria.

Although Pflimlin's program for Algeria is almost identical with that of his predecessors, right wing parties claim Pflimlin is weakening France's determination to put down the rebellion.

The USIA office is in the center of the city. It had been damaged before by a bomb attack. The U. S. consulate in Algiers, some distance from the city's center, was also the scene of a recent bomb attack. A bomb placed at the entrance blew out a door and injured a Moslem woman.

TODAY'S demonstrations came as the city's activity was brought to a standstill by a total strike. The Moslem workers stayed home and Moslem shopkeepers closed. The streets of the Arab Casbah were empty of Arabs.

The demonstration had been called for much later in the afternoon but the nervous and angry demonstrators poured into the streets hours earlier, singing the French national anthem and chanting "Algeria is French."

Ike's OK Seen On GI Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is expected to sign a bill that would start higher pay checks flowing to most members of the armed services as of June 1.

The measure, aimed at encouraging trained personnel to stay in uniform, was passed finally by the House and Senate Monday. It is generally in line with Eisenhower's recommendations.

Under its terms, virtually all servicemen with at least two years duty would get pay boosts ranging from 5 to 60 per cent, with the biggest hikes going to generals and other senior officers.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Herbert Hoover Jr. of Los Angeles, a consulting engineer and son of the former President, has been elected a director of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

Lebanese Rioters Continue Violence

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rioters smashed shops, blocked the streets with flaming barricades and chased pedestrians from the sidewalks today in violent protest against Lebanon's pro-Western government.

Demonstrators roamed Beirut for the second day, following the end of an all-night curfew. Organized bands were determined to force a general strike and bring business to a standstill.

They smashed windows and wrecked shops that defied their orders to close. A few people who went out in downtown streets were scattered by the roving bands.

Feverish political maneuvering was underway in an effort to restore order. The political opposition disclaimed any responsibility for the bloodshed and violence, blaming subversive elements working in the ranks of peaceful demonstrators.

In Amman, King Hussein today pledged Jordan's support to the Lebanese government in its crisis, which he described as a battle between democracy and dictatorship.

BEFORE LEAVING his capital for Baghdad, Hussein messaged his assurances of support to President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon.

Five Lebanese customs officials were killed in an attack near the Syrian border and five more deaths were reported in today's fighting in Beirut.

This pushed the nation's death toll since the fighting started Saturday to at least 36.

Associated Press correspondent Wilton Wynn and his wife were stoned but not injured on their way into Beirut from the airport. Security forces Monday night shot two persons for failing to halt.

The rigid curfew imposed a long night of calm after Monday's riots. The mobs in Beirut burned a U. S. Information Agency library, battled security forces, closed shops, burned buildings, set up roadblocks and generally stopped transportation.

Rioting and shooting also broke out again Monday in the North Lebanese port of Tripoli, where another U. S. library was wrecked Saturday and 11 persons were killed in fighting between rioters and police. Also in North Lebanon, two unidentified men Monday blew up a pipeline carrying oil from Iraq to Tripoli.

The disturbances were triggered by the assassination last week in Beirut of a newspaper publisher who supported U. A. R. President Nasser's goal of gathering into his domain all Arab nations, including half-Moslem, half-Christian Lebanon.

Starkweather Letter Tells Of Slayings

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A letter saying Charles Starkweather killed Carl Fugate's stepfather and then Carl kept her mother from killing Charles was read Monday in the boy's trial.

The prosecution read the letter although Starkweather is not charged with the stepfather's death. It was signed by Charles and Carl.

The letter was addressed "for the law only" and was taken from Starkweather after his arrest in Wyoming Jan. 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bartlett, Carl's stepfather and mother, and Carl's 2-year-old half sister were the second, third and fourth victims in 11 slayings that Starkweather has acknowledged.

He is on trial for the shooting of Robert Jensen, 17, near Bennet, Neb., last January. Jensen was killed as police hunted Starkweather, 19, and Carl, 14, the day after the Bartlett slayings.

The letter told how Starkweather came to visit Carl but was ordered by Mrs. Bartlett to leave. He replied sarcastically. That angered Bartlett and brought on a fight, the letter said, ending with Charles shooting Bartlett.

Mrs. Bartlett was shot to death, but the letter did not say who fired that shot.

Comet Jet Airliner Claims Ocean Record

LONDON (AP)—A British Comet airliner flew the Atlantic from Newfoundland to London Airport today in 4 hours 33 minutes.

British Overseas Airways claimed it was the fastest crossing ever made by a civil aircraft. Average speed for the 2,400-mile flight was 530 m.p.h.

The Comet was on a training flight before its introduction later this year on the Atlantic run.

Hope Is Held For Upturn

Federal Reserve Chief Cautious on Optimism

WASHINGTON (AP)—William M. Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman, told Senators today "There are some hopeful indicators" the recession is leveling off but they are not yet conclusive.

"There is this process of leveling out," Martin said at another point. "If we can consolidate our gains it could lead to a substantial spring uprise." But, he said emphatically "that is as far as I would go" toward a forecast now.

Martin expressed these views in testimony to the Senate Housing subcommittee at a public hearing on a dozen different bills dealing with the government's annual multi-billion dollar housing activities.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), the subcommittee chairman, asked whether Martin sees a leveling off of the business slump.

"I don't think there are any conclusive indicators now," Martin replied, declining to make flat predictions.

"THERE ARE some hopeful indicators that we are having a leveling off process," the Board chairman continued, adding "The rate of decline of the business slump has been slower for some time."

But he said part of this may be a seasonal matter and "We have to be very cautious about ascribing too much optimism" in reading such trends.

The subcommittee is conducting public hearings prior to drafting a huge, many-sided bill to provide renewed authority for various government housing plans.

Meanwhile, Sparkman and Sen. Homer Capehart of Indiana, the Housing subcommittee's senior Republican member, backed an administration request to increase to $7 billion the amount of home loans that may be insured by the Federal Housing Administration between now and June 30, 1959.

A jeering, screaming mob of about 500 teen-agers met the Nixons plane at the airport.

As he entered the car they repeatedly spat on him and his car. He and Mrs. Nixon virtually had to fight their way into the caravan carrying them up a mountain road to the city.

The students carried signs, "Go Home Mr. Nixon, We Don't Forget Guatemala. No, Mr. Nixon We Don't Want You, Latin America Doesn't Want United States Intervention."

THE RECEPTION was as hostile as the one the vice president received when he tried to speak to students in Peru last week.

The rioting came on the heels of intelligence reports that the Communists might try to assassinate Nixon on his visit here. These reports were discounted by government officials.

There were only a few friendly shouts either at the airport or along Nixon's route into the city.

Nixon's aides received reports from both U.S. and Venezuelan sources that there might be an attempt against his life during his two-day stay in the Venezuelan capital. One version said a university student had been hired to gun him down.

Nixon himself described it as a "routine threat" and added, "if we changed our plans every time something like this came up, we wouldn't do anything."

Miss Novak also said Trujillo left a sports car, a sleek $8,400 model, with her but said she thought it was a loan.

Kim and Trujillo have been seen together frequently in Hollywood since Easter. Trujillo, head of his country's air force, came to the United States to attend the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

His lavish gifts drew criticism in Washington, D. C., from congressmen. Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) estimated that $1,300,000 will go to Trujillo's country if Congress passes the proposed $3.6 billion foreign aid bill. "I doubt it makes the taxpayers happy," said Hays.

"It is his own personal money," said Trujillo's secretary, Victor Sued, of the gifts. "He owns sugar mills and has a dairy farm in the Dominican Republic."

Algiers Mob Toss Out Books

Angry Demonstrators March on Embassy

ALGIER (AP)—Angry demonstrators today sacked the U. S. Information Agency office here and then marched on the American Consulate.

The USIA office was almost demolished. Furniture was smashed and books thrown out of the window and torn up in the streets.

It was the third violent demonstration against American centers in the Middle East in less than a week. Monday, Lebanese rioters sacked and burned a U. S. library in Beirut and last Saturday a similar library in Tripoli was demolished.

The demonstrations reflected rising anti-American feeling in Algeria. Many French here believe the United States would like to see Algeria independent of French rule.

The demonstrators broke into the USIA office in mid-afternoon. One group of demonstrators smashed in the front. Others smashed the outside nameplate on the office, which is on the second floor of an office and apartment building.

Don Davis of Great Falls, Mont., was in the office at the time but was unhurt.

AN AMERICAN source said that the demonstrators included a number of war veterans, who are among the most outspoken right-wingers in Algeria.

Two policemen on duty near the Algiers office did not interfere. The crowd was demanding that France keep a firm hold on rebellious Algeria.

The angry crowd then headed up the street to the U. S. Consulate about a mile away.

The demonstrations in the capital of Algeria were staged by students, right wing groups and others protesting the vote of the National Assembly in Paris on the investiture of Premier-designate Pierre Pflimlin.

Leaflets were thrown about the streets demanding that if Pflimlin became premier the French settlers in Algeria should use all means to keep his representatives out of Algeria.

Although Pflimlin's program for Algeria is almost identical with that of his predecessors, right wing parties claim Pflimlin is weakening France's determination to put down the rebellion.

The USIA office is in the center of the city. It had been damaged before by a bomb attack. The U. S. consulate in Algiers, some distance from the city's center, was also the scene of a recent bomb attack. A bomb placed at the entrance blew out a door and injured a Moslem woman.

TODAY'S demonstrations came as the city's activity was brought to a standstill by a total strike. The Moslem workers stayed home and Moslem shopkeepers closed. The streets of the Arab Casbah were empty of Arabs.

The demonstration had been called for much later in the afternoon but the nervous and angry demonstrators poured into the streets hours earlier, singing the French national anthem and CHANTING "Algeria is French."

His lavish gifts drew criticism in Washington, D. C., from congressmen. Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) estimated that $1,300,000 will go to Trujillo's country if Congress passes the proposed $3.6 billion foreign aid bill. "I doubt it makes the taxpayers happy," said Hays.

Lebanese Rioters Continue Violence

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rioters smashed shops, blocked the streets with flaming barricades and chased pedestrians from the sidewalks today in violent protest against Lebanon's pro-Western government.

Demonstrators roamed Beirut for the second day, following the end of an all-night curfew. Organized bands were determined to force a general strike and bring business to a standstill.

They smashed windows and wrecked shops that defied their orders to close. A few people who went out in downtown streets were scattered by the roving bands.

Fervish political maneuvering was underway in an effort to restore order. The political opposition disclaimed any responsibility for the bloodshed and violence, blaming subversive elements working in the ranks of peaceful demonstrators.

In Amman, King Hussein today pledged Jordan's support to the Lebanese government in its crisis, which he described as a battle between democracy and dictatorship.

BEFORE LEAVING his capital for Baghdad, Hussein messaged his assurances of support to President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon.

Five Lebanese customs officials were killed in an attack near the Syrian border and five more deaths were reported in today's fighting in Beirut.

This pushed the nation's death toll since the fighting started Saturday to at least 36.

Associated Press correspondent Wilton Wynn and his wife were stoned but not injured on their way into Beirut from the airport.

Security forces Monday night shot two persons for failing to halt.

The rigid curfew imposed a long night of calm after Monday's riots. The mobs in Beirut burned a U. S. Information Agency library, battled security forces, closed shops, burned buildings, set up roadblocks and generally stopped transportation.

Rioting and shooting also broke out again Monday in the North Lebanese port of Tripoli, where another U. S. library was wrecked Saturday and 11 persons were killed in fighting between rioters and police. Also in North Lebanon, two unidentified men Monday blew up a pipeline carrying oil from Iraq to Tripoli.

The disturbances were triggered by the assassination last week in Beirut of a newspaper publisher who supported U. A. R. President Nasser's goal of gathering into his domain all Arab nations, including half-Moslem, half-Christian Lebanon.

Starkweather Letter Tells Of Slayings

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A letter saying Charles Starkweather killed Carl Fugate's stepfather and then Carl kept her mother from killing Charles was read Monday in the boy's trial.

The prosecution read the letter although Starkweather is not charged with the stepfather's death. It was signed by Charles and Carl.

The letter was addressed "for the law only" and was taken from Starkweather after his arrest in Wyoming Jan. 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bartlett, Carl's stepfather and mother, and Carl's 2-year-old half sister were the second, third and fourth victims in 11 slayings that Starkweather has acknowledged.

He is on trial for the shooting of Robert Jensen, 17, near Bennet, Neb., last January. Jensen was killed as police hunted Starkweather, 19, and Carl, 14, the day after the Bartlett slayings.

The letter told how Starkweather came to visit Carl but was ordered by Mrs. Bartlett to leave. He replied sarcastically. That angered Bartlett and brought on a fight, the letter said, ending with Charles shooting Bartlett.

Mrs. Bartlett was shot to death, but the letter did not say who fired that shot.

Comet Jet Airliner Claims Ocean Record

British Overseas Airways claimed it was the fastest crossing ever made by a civil aircraft. Average speed for the 2,400-mile flight was 530 m.p.h.

The Comet was on a training flight before its introduction later this year on the Atlantic run.

Reminder Given To Candidates On Expenditures

All Pickaway County candidates participating in the May 4 primary election must file a report of their receipts and expenditures by 4 p. m. June 20 with the county Board of Elections, it was noted today by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Any candidate failing to file by the above date will be ineligible to run for any political office for five years. All statements must be accompanied by receipts for any expenditures over $25.

Candidates who did not receive or expend, directly or indirectly, any money or thing of value in connection with their campaign must file a sworn statement to that effect, with the same deadline and penalty applying.

The Legislature also revised the election laws affecting candidates for party state central or county central committees. Candidates for these Republican and Democratic party posts need make no filing if they were unopposed.

County candidates will file statements with their County Board of Elections; candidates for district offices with the Board of the most populous county of their district (except candidates for Congress); and candidates for state office and for representative to Congress with the Secretary of State.

Straight should know of the county's past history for he spent 14 years at Washington Twp. school before coming to Monroe 15 years ago.

Janice hopes to do secretarial or office work after majoring in a commercial course while in school. Janice has attended Monroe off and on since an early age, but finally returned to stay in her sophomore year.

Classmate Audrey Blair, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Blair, Route 1, Williamsport. She comes from a family of nine of which she is the fifth eldest. Her brothers and sisters are Mrs. Floyd Williams Jr., Columbus; Mrs. James Bulckett, Staumburg, Ky.; Bobbie Joe, U. S. Navy; Frank, a junior at Monroe; Glenn, a freshman, Loretta, in the seventh grade; Buddy, a fourth grader, and Billy, not of school age.

Miss Blair entered Monroe school in her freshman year coming from Paintsville, Ky. She is a member of the girls athletic team and was admitted to the Pickaway County Honor Society in 1958. She hopes her commercial studies will assist her in finding a job in an office as a secretary or a clerk.

Both girls are close friends, double dating and holding slumber parties together. According to Straight, there were 12 to 15 starting out in the first grade of this class. Over the years the members began moving away. As freshmen the class numbered eight. Again the process of elimination entered the picture as some married and others dropped out of school to go to work or because their parents had to leave.

THE GIRLS attended most of their classes with the juniors except for shorthand which they took alone. They readily maintain they learned just as much, if not more, in their situation because more individual attention could be given them.

So if you happen to pass by Five Points next Monday evening drop into the Monroe school. You will see an almost barren platform but the pleased smiles of these two young ladies will more than make up for the vacant area.

Kiwanis Hears Address by Ed Wallace

Ed Wallace, Pickaway County State Representative, spoke before the Circleville Kiwanis Club last night on Hargus Lake, located at Devils Backbone east of Circleville.

Wallace said that when first proposed, the lake was only to be 50 acres in area. When it was finally constructed it became a 170-acre lake. He said the lake would receive no money for additional improvement this year because the appropriation was to be used for just four of Ohio's 54 lakes.

The Ohio Senate had set aside money for lake improvement and Hargus Lake was to have received approximately $60,000. The Wildlife Committee, a governor appointee group of seven men from different areas of the state, decided differently, Wallace said. They based their decision on the fact that the lakes serving the most people should receive the money.

Wallace continued that 10 years ago few people were visiting Ohio, but now 10 to 12 million people are seeing the state's scenic countryside.

He noted that Hargus Lake is one of the few with two islands. Last proved to be good fishing for crappies and blue gills and this year the bass should start biting, he added.

MONTREAL (AP)—Courts in both east and west Canada dealt a sharp blow Monday night to the firemen's strike against the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

Most damaging was an injunction by British Columbia's Supreme Court ordering firemen to stop picketing all CPR operations in the far western province.

The British Columbia court also issued an order forbidding firemen from trying to persuade other CPR employees to walk off their jobs in violation of their union contracts. Similar injunctions were ordered by courts in Sudbury, Ont., and Moose Jaw, Sask.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen called the walkout Sunday in an effort to halt the railroad's plan to remove firemen gradually from diesel freight and yard engines. The dispute is being closely watched by U.S. lines which also have switched to oil-burning diesels and claim they no longer need coal-shoveling firemen.

The strike involves some 3,000 firemen.

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Britain's biggest consignment of Salk vaccine from the United States arrived by special plane today to speed this country's fight against polio. The government hopes to wipe out the backlog waiting for inoculations before the summer peak-infection months. The consignment will be enough for two million injections.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Chile has conditionally accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to a conference to write a pact keeping Antarctica a neutral preserve for peaceful scientific research, a government source said Monday night. Japan and South Africa earlier accepted the U. S. invitation to 11 nations, including Russia, for discussions of a pact.

LONDON (AP)—British and Malay officials began work today on the final draft of a new constitution for Singapore. They expect to complete the work by the middle of next week.

The constitution will give Britain's island colony full internal self-government. The British and Singapore governments will decide the date it will become effective.

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today a Soviet scientific expedition has found a vast mountain range on the bed of the Pacific between Antarctica and South Africa.

Guided Missile Plant Is Struck

POMONA, Calif. (AP)—The International Assn. of Machinists struck the Convair guided missile plant here early today. Production personnel left their jobs and picket lines were established.

The action affects 1,777 workers of a total of 4,700 hourly employees. The development came after IAM refused to accept terms of a company offer approved Sunday night by Convair employees in two San Diego, Calif., plants.

The Pomona plant produces Terrier and Tartar missiles for the Navy. Convair's San Diego plants, employing some 31,000 workers, produce the Atlas missile for the Air Force, F102 jet fighters and airline transports.

U.S. To Ask Khrushchev For Details on New Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States plans to ask Soviet Premier Khrushchev to spell out the exact conditions he has in mind for technical disarmament talks he reports he is ready to begin.

With Khrushchev agreeing to the talks he once rejected, President Eisenhower was reported anxious to begin the discussions quickly (perhaps late this month) if Khrushchev gives him a satisfactory answer.

But informed authorities said, Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles both want Khrushchev to explain what he meant when he said such talks "should be completed in the shortest term, agreed upon before hand."

Khrushchev attached this condition in a letter to Eisenhower Saturday in which he unexpectedly agreed to the White House demand for such technical talks. They would deal with means of detecting violations of any agreement to halt nuclear weapons tests.

KHRUSHCHEV in agreeing, however, expressed what he called "serious doubts" that such talks were necessary.

This Khrushchev attitude, plus the puzzlement over the deadline the Soviet leader apparently wants to impose, accounted for the cautious welcome Eisenhower and Dulles gave to the new twist in Soviet policy.

Dulles, returning Monday after a 10-day European trip, described Khrushchev's letter as representing "a little progress." He met afterward with Eisenhower at the White House to discuss the development and report on the Atlantic Pact conference in Copenhagen which charted new Western defense moves.

The State Department began consulting allied governments to learn their views on how to handle the new summit maneuver.

All Pickaway County candidates participating in the May 4 primary election must file a report of their receipts and expenditures by 4 p. m. June 20 with the county Board of Elections, it was noted today by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Coeds Glow When Their Dads Join Gala College Affairs

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Staff Writer

Are you a Real Dad or a Slouch? You can tell which by whether you accept an invitation to be daughter's date for a weekend and shake the rheumatiz out of your old brief case.

Summer Rider, New York business executive, responded to daughter's plea to attend Dad's weekend at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., as a fatherly good deed. Now he can't wait for return engagements.

"I've been to two of these events," says Rider, whose 20-year-old daughter Lynn is a junior, "and it's better therapy than a vacation at health farm. The girls have every minute planned, there are a million laughs, and a lot of regrets that it can't last longer."

A father who has never been involved in the inner sanctums of a girl's school doesn't know what he's missing, Rider says.

"It isn't just the fun the Dads have that counts either," he explains. "Girls spend a good deal of their early years with their mothers, and at college age need to be acquainted with their fathers. It gives them a chance to know each other and for Dad to know daughter's companions."

When Lynn's friends come to the Rider's home, they are known by their first names, and Rider has met their fathers at the college functions.

"That too, is one of the interesting aspects of these weekends," he says. "The fathers become good friends, see each other socially, and have a whale of a good time when they get together at the school."

One sad feature of these weekends is that some Dads just don't show, Rider adds.

"When a father doesn't put in an appearance, his daughter is very disappointed, usually leaves the campus for the weekend, rather than face up to the gaiety."

Girls who do not have Dads sometimes share a father with another girl.

"After you are aware of the importance of Being a Father to a College Daughter, you are likely to become conscience-stricken that Mom isn't invited to these soirees," says Rider. "I was. So I suggested that the girls have a Mother's Weekend. But they didn't go for it, replying:

"What would we ever do with our mothers?"

CHS Honor Society Planning Banquet

The National Honor Society of Circleville High School will hold its annual banquet Tuesday night at Wardell's Party Home.

Nixon Goodwill Trip Calloff Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House says President Eisenhower has given no thought to possible cancellation of Vice President Nixon's proposed European goodwill tour.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said he had noted a news dispatch over the weekend saying that the Eisenhower administration was considering cancellation of the tour because of demonstrations against Nixon during his current visit to South American countries.

An Associated Press dispatch of May 11 reported that the administration may take another look at the proposed Nixon trip in view of the incidents in South America.

CASE-O-MATIC CHALLENGE

OUR WORD IS OUR BOND. Many farmers saw the great new Case-o-matic tractors outperform competitive models in the recent WORLD PREMIERE film. Now! We challenge all competitive dealers to publicly compete with Case-o-matic Drive tractors in the following three tests, under actual field conditions.

DATE: Saturday, May 17

TIME: 1:30 P. M.

PLACE: Fred Cook Farm

Fred Cook Farm, 5 Miles North of Circleville on Rt. 23

TEST NO. 1

Plowing Pull-Power

Each contestant will pull the same plow in parallel lands in a plowing gear of not less than 3.75 mph. Plow will be stopped at prescribed intervals and depth increased until one of the contestants can pull no more. Winner will be the tractor capable of pulling the plow at the depth where the other failed.

TEST NO. 2

Road Gear Pull-Power

Each contestant will attempt to start and pull a prescribed dead load in the highest forward gear. The winner will be the tractor capable of moving the load for a minimum distance of 25 feet.

TEST NO. 3

Tug-of-War

Contestants will be hitched back to back with a rigid 10-foot tow-bar. The tractor drawbars must be locked in fixed position and adjusted to identical heights. Separate Tugs-of-War will be conducted in comparable speeds starting with the highest and progressively shifting to the lower speeds until one or both of the contestants can no longer maintain traction.

The champion of the Case-o-matic Challenge event will be the tractor winning at least two out of the three above-mentioned tests.

RULES GOVERNING THE CONTEST ARE AS FOLLOWS:

RULE 1

Dealers accepting the Challenge must sign the following liability release at least 24 hours prior to the starting time of the Contest.

"I, THE UNDERSIGNED: Being fully aware of the manufacturer's contention that the Case-o-matic Drive tractor(s) can exert up to twice the pull-power of a conventional tractor, and because possible damage may result to my tractor(s), I fully release the Case dealer of all liability both generally and specifically for any partial or complete damage caused to my tractor(s) or for any bodily or mental injuries whatsoever caused to myself or to my driver as a result of participating in the Case-o-matic Challenge Contest."

These forms are available at my place of business.

RULE 2

All contesting tractors must be within the following power classifications:

CASE-O-MATIC 800
Allis-Chalmers D-17
Cockshutt 50
John Deere 720
International 450

CASE-O-MATIC 600
Cockshutt 40
John Deere 620
Ford 961
International 350
Massey-Ferguson 63
Massey-Ferguson 335
Minneapolis-Moline 445
Oliver 770

CASE-O-MATIC 400
Allis-Chalmers D-14
Cockshutt 30
John Deere 520
Ford 600 and 700
International 330
Massey-Ferguson 50
Oliver 550

RULE 3

All competitive tractors must be:

- Of equivalent tire size and type.
- Weighted for maximum drawbar performance within capacity specified by the respective tire manufacturers.
- Current standard production models operated at manufacturer's rated RPM.

NOTE: TO ALL FARMERS, CUSTOMERS AND COMPETING DEALERS

The Case-o-matic Challenge is a fair test of tractor performance and efficiency. We sincerely believe that all farmers are interested in comparing farm tractor performance under normal field conditions. Therefore, any attempt by a contestant to deviate from the prescribed rules, or otherwise rig the competing tractor, or alter tests from normal operating field conditions will automatically void his eligibility.

Coeds Glow When Their Dads Join Gala College Affairs

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Staff Writer

Are you a Real Dad or a Slouch? You can tell which by whether you accept an invitation to be daughter's date for a weekend and shake the rheumatiz out of your old brief case.

Sumner Rider, New York business executive, responded to daughter's plea to attend Dad's weekend at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., as a fatherly good deed. Now he can't wait for return engagements.

"I've been to two of these events," says Rider, whose 20-year-old daughter Lynn is a junior, "and it's better therapy than a vacation at health farm. The girls have every minute planned, there are a million laughs, and a lot of regrets that it can't last longer."

A father who has never been inveigled into the inner sanctums of a girl's school doesn't know what he's missing, Rider says.

"It isn't just the fun the Dads have that counts either," he explains. "Girls spend a good deal of their early years with their mothers, and at college age need to be acquainted with their fathers. It gives them a chance to know each other and for Dad to know daughter's companions."

When Lynn's friends come to the Rider's home, they are known by their first names, and Rider has met their fathers at the college functions.

"That too, is one of the interesting aspects of these weekends," he says. "The fathers become good friends, see each other socially, and have a whale of a good time when they get together at the school."

One sad feature of these weekends is that some Dads just don't show, Rider adds.

"When a father doesn't put in an appearance, his daughter is very disappointed, usually leaves the campus for the weekend, rather than face up to the gaiety."

Girls who do not have Dads sometimes share a father with another girl.

"After you are aware of the importance of Being a Father to a College Daughter, you are likely to become conscience-stricken that Mom isn't invited to these soirees," says Rider. "I was. So I suggested that the girls have a Mother's Weekend. But they didn't go for it, replying:

"What would we ever do with our mothers?"

CHS Honor Society Planning Banquet

The National Honor Society of Circleville High School will hold its annual banquet Tuesday night at Wardell's Party Home.

Mrs. Judd Dresbach will be guest speaker for the evening. The event will start at 6:30 p. m.

Civil Rights Studies Sought by Advisers

Nixon Goodwill Trip Calloff Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House says President Eisenhower has given no thought to possible cancellation of Vice President Nixon's proposed European goodwill tour.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said he had noted a news dispatch over the weekend saying that the Eisenhower administration was considering cancellation of the tour because of demonstrations against Nixon during his current visit to South American countries.

An Associated Press dispatch of May 11 reported that the administration may take another look at the proposed Nixon trip in view of the incidents in South America.

What About Anarctic Problem?

What to do about the Antarctic Continent probably should not be listed among the major and pressing issues confronting the nations of this troubled world. But it might become one—nations being what they are—or complicate another.

That is why the United States has moved to eliminate this source of possible friction now.

President Eisenhower has sent to 11 other nations, including Russia, a note proposing an international conference to preserve the Antarctic for scientific research and prevent it from becoming a battleground. Though the time and place of the meeting are to be negotiated, the hope is for early action.

The note says that it would be desirable for these 12 nations, which have been conducting scientific work in the Antarctic as part of the International Geophysical Year, to continue their "friendly cooperation."

Along with the call for a conference there is a suggested solution for the problem. The American proposal is ingenious in that it does not suggest internationalization of the Antarctic or even a settlement of the conflicting claims that have been asserted there but, instead, that the status quo be frozen for the duration of the treaty.

This seems like an approach that should recommend itself to the nations that have interests in the Antarctic Continent, including the seven that have asserted territorial claims there. They would lose nothing by such an agreement, they could continue adding to the world's knowledge of Antarctica, and they would make sure that rivalry there would be peaceful and mutually beneficial.

As for the nations not invited to confer, this American initiative is in their interest, too. If the ends sought are in fact achieved, all peoples will share in the benefits from the continuance of "friendly cooperation" among the 12 countries most concerned.

Stalin Was 'Take All, Give None' By George Sokolsky

Many are surprised at the voluminous correspondence of the Russians in these days. This is nothing new. Stalin and Roosevelt carried on an extensive correspondence. Many of the letters are published for the years between 1941 and 1945. It is interesting, in view of the bitterness of the Kremlin toward the United States, that Stalin wrote Roosevelt on November 4, 1941: "Your decision, Mr. President, to grant the Soviet Union an interest-free loan to the value of $1,000,000,000 to meet deliveries of munitions and raw materials to the Soviet Union is accepted by the Soviet government with heartfelt gratitude as vital aid to the Soviet Union in its tremendous and onerous struggle against our common enemy—bloody Hitlerism."

That heartfelt gratitude did not long remain in Russian memory. By February 18, 1942 Stalin is more pushing and more demanding, as, for instance, this letter:

"I have received your message about U. S. arms deliveries in January and February. I stress that it is now, when the peoples of the Soviet Union and their army are bending their energies to throw the Hitler troops back by a tenacious offensive, that U. S. deliveries, including tanks and aircraft, are essential for our common cause and our further success."

However, when we came through with another billion dollars, it was received with "sincere gratitude." It is interesting to note in this correspondence how Roosevelt tries to jockey Stalin into a three-man summit conference and how adroitly Stalin dodges. He cannot leave the Soviet Union because events are so pressing, but he does not, in 1942, invite the President or

Churchill to visit him in Moscow. Also when Roosevelt offered to send planes to Siberia, Stalin countered with the proposal that the planes go to Nome, Alaska, where Russian pilots wanted to take over. Roosevelt wanted to send American and British planes and crews to the Caucasus, but Stalin turned this down. He said:

"A feature of the Soviet Air Force is that we have more than enough pilots but suffer from a shortage of machines."

Stalin was willing to take planes and machinery, but he wanted no American personnel in Siberia or Russia. Note this, on January 13, 1943:

"As to sending bomber units to the Far East, I have already pointed out in my previous messages that what we need is not air force units, but planes without pilots, because we have more than enough pilots of our own. Secondly, we need your help in the way of aircraft not in the Far East where the U.S.S.R. is not in a state of war, but on the Soviet-German front, where the need for aircraft aid is particularly great."

"I was rather surprised at your proposal that General Bradley should inspect Russian military objectives in the Far East and elsewhere in the U.S.S.R. It would be perfectly obvious that only Russians can inspect Russian military objectives, just as U. S. military objectives can be inspected by none but Americans. There should be no unclarity in this matter."

"Concerning General Marshall's visit to the U.S.S.R. I must say I am not quite clear about his mission. Kindly advise me of the purpose of the visit so that I can consider the matter with full understanding and reply accordingly."

It would seem that this letter should have indicated to President Roosevelt that Stalin was not an ally but was fighting his own war in his own way in total disregard of his so-called allies who had already done so much for him and his country. However, Roosevelt persisted in his efforts toward building his Grand Alliance.

The letters provide one amazing clue to Russian policy; it is all take and no give. Stalin accepts everything; he gives nothing. He makes not a single concession but he is prepared to accept anything that is lying around loose.

Much correspondence passed between Stalin and Roosevelt on the Polish Question. As one reads these letters now, it is clear that Stalin had no intention of permitting a free Poland to come into existence.

Long before the war was over, Stalin showed not only his cloven hooves but his hellish horns. These two volumes of letters, edited by the Commission for the Publication of Diplomatic Documents of the Russian Foreign Office, are well worth reading.

Virus Battle Is not Won

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
What is medicine's greatest challenge?

We, I, have to solve the secret of heart disease and, of course, we must find a preventive and a cure for cancer.

But there also are many other problems facing our doctors and researchers. One of the biggest is the challenge of the virus. Among all our infectious processes, virus diseases present the greatest unsolved problem.

Viruses can cause at least 50 different diseases. While they seldom bring death, they do cause enormous physical and financial burdens to everyone. Each year about 5,000,000,000 (yes, that's five billion) man days are lost in this country because of virus diseases.

The average American can expect to be stricken by some sort of virus disease from four to six times this year.

Most of you can expect to be affected by virus diseases for 10 per cent of your lives. If you live to the age of 65—and statistics say most of you will—you probably will spend 6½ years of your lifetime suffering from virus diseases. See why it's such a tremendous problem?

Virus diseases can be mild or serious. We generally accept such ailments as chickenpox, measles, mumps, colds, influenza and various forms of pneumonia almost as inevitable. The more severe forms include paralytic polio and even rabies, which, if not treated in time, is always fatal.

Despite all our medical advances, we can provide effective protection against only five or six of the 50 virus diseases. With the wonderful Salk vaccine we could just about wipe out paralytic polio. With other inactivated virus vaccines we can prevent influenza and rabies.

Vaccines made of active virus can prevent yellow fever and smallpox. And we can give temporary protection against hepatitis and measles by using gamma globulin. But we can't prevent the common cold and the long list of other virus diseases.

However, a recent issue of "Public Health Reports" gives some encouragement. Dr. Frank L. Horsfall, Jr., physician-in-chief of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York City, reports development of new synthetic chemical compounds which are "highly effective" against various viruses in experiments with animals.

Perhaps it won't be so long before we can prevent, treat and even cure virus diseases.

Question and Answer
A. T.: One doctor told me that I had diverticulosis. Another said I had diverticulitis.

What is the difference?
Answer: Diverticulosis is a disease in which there are small out-pocketings of the large intestine at various places. A person may have as many as one hundred of these. Usually, there are no symptoms from this disease.

However, if inflammation occurs, the diverticulitis (the out-pocketings) become inflamed and infected and may cause bloody diarrhea with severe pain. There may be chills and fever along with these symptoms.

2-Legged, Half-Shelled Egg

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—She breaks into the room, glowing with the health of almost-five. No energy higher.

Or she sags into the room, like something pushed into our family light from outer dark. At almost-five — her own age and the hour — she has 10-o'clock shadow.

She melts upon the doorstep, worn out human butter, yells for the bathroom, then, later, at the entrance to her bedroom pleads against the indignity of a night that seals a day.

As a father I never am quite sure whether she has been drained by Dracula or whether she is Dracula. Are all children like this? Other parents say yes. I still wonder.

The bread I earn by my sweat to being home to make her stronger she often leaves by her plate. But to her I am the boy who may have gum in his pockets when he arrives at twilight. This is a hero?

It is one of the great titanic struggles of my life to deal with this thing, this spawn of time, this one-hearted, two-legged half-shelled egg, this creature that weeps and laughs and cries and plots and is my daughter.

It is called and answers to the name of Tracy. It was optimistic which goes along with it, effective June 7, Karl Kugel, the present city manager, has resigned and will leave the post May 31.

tically labeled at baptism Margaret Tracy Ann Kathleen Boyle. In play it refers to itself as Susan. In wistful moments it says "I'm Margaret." This is the name of its paternal grandmother.

Ask a kiss from it and you get none. Insist you won't take any and get a wet face.

It must be around four feet or so tall, weighs about 50 pounds, unless you lift it. Then it is eight feet tall and weighs 1,617,312½ pounds.

It is also known by other aliases. A favorite is Cinderella, in which disguise, when asked to pick up its clothing, it has a set answer, plaintive but genteel, "Well, I can't be everywhere."

One who knows her wonders whether this isn't an understatement. In dealing with a child of this age a grownup has only two worries—what she is up to if you can see her, what she might be up to if you can't see her.

By almost-five you feel you can put some faith in her. You feel she has a sense of caution and won't do these things: Taste medicine, stand in a window, step into the street.

And yet what will she do in a single day? She will hold medicine to her mouth and ask, "Shall I?" She'll climb to the window. She'll run to the street and hold a foot over the pavement or maybe even put it down. But all before your eye.

You know she's daring you and herself. You know she's exploring your authority and why. Again you tell her the reasons for the rules, and you put a hardness and a softness into your voice. You tell her that if she ever breaks these few rules she'll hurt herself and that if she hurts herself she'll hurt you.

By this slender string of faith, all your discipline hangs on if you aren't there—that the child will follow the rules you made, not so much from fear of hurting herself but you, the home of love.

Confidence is a hard thing to put in any human being at any age, and it's always a matter of timing—when and to whom. But you have to.

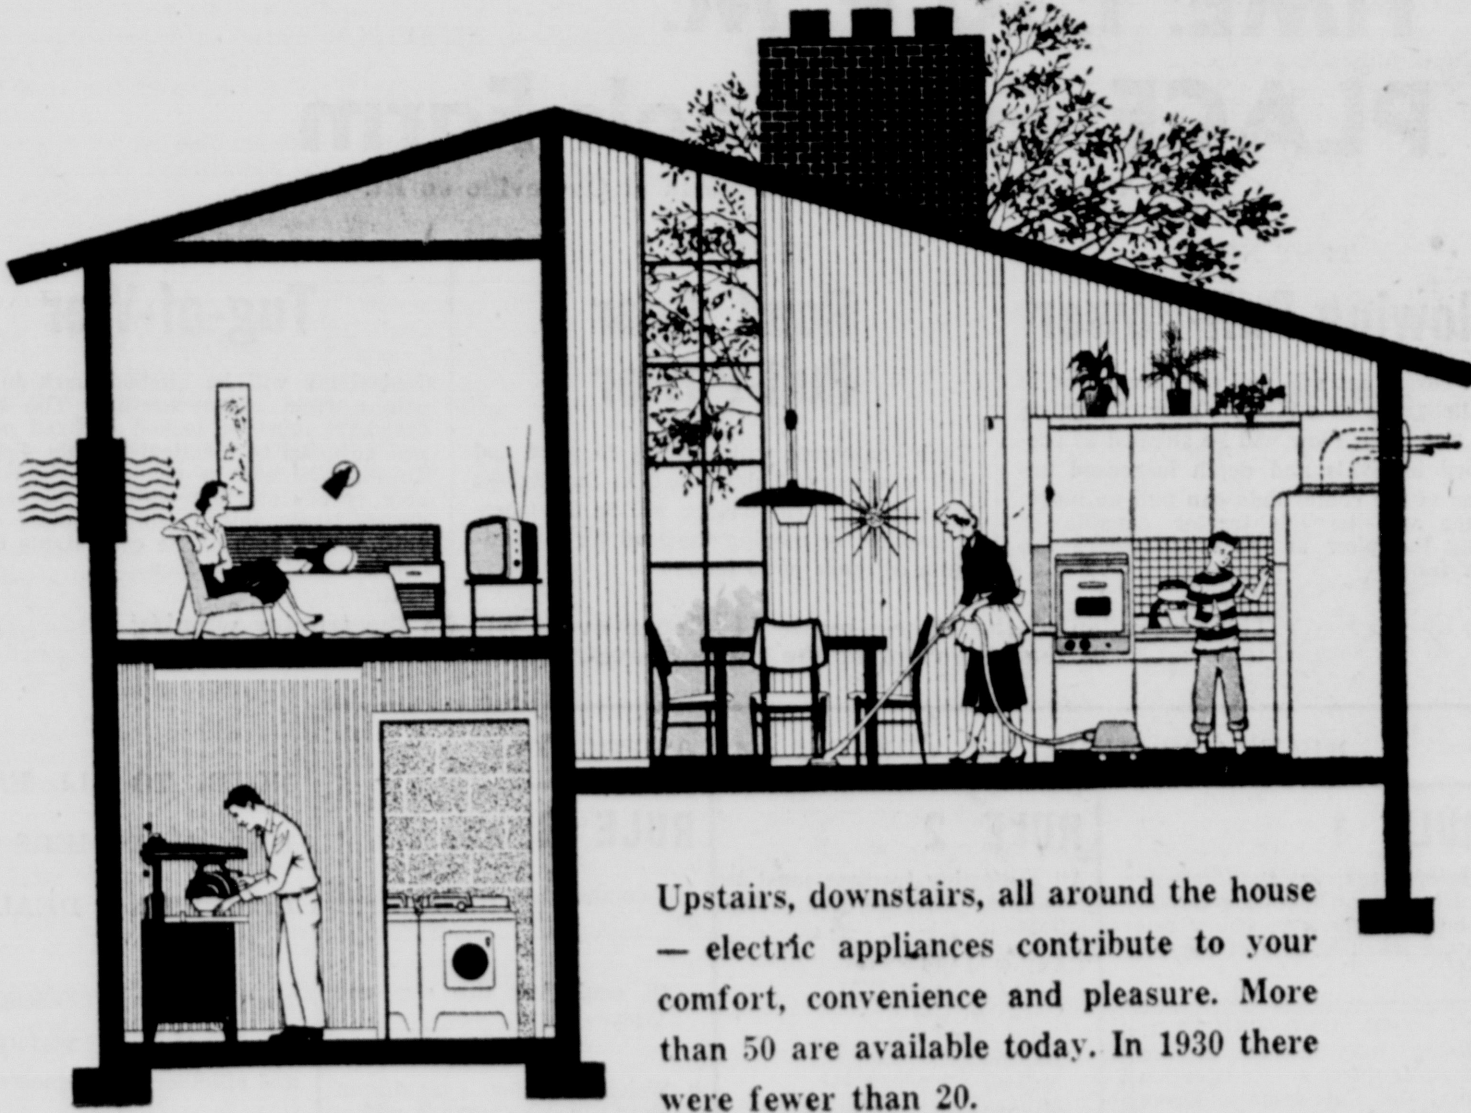

At almost-five Tracy Ann, like a field dog, strains the outer limits of the leash one moment, the next comes back and chews at the thongs of the love she would not be without. All cubs play at life and freedom until . . .

What About Antarctic Problem?

What to do about the Antarctic Continent probably should not be listed among the major and pressing issues confronting the nations of this troubled world. But it might become one—nations being what they are—or complicate another.

That is why the United States has moved to eliminate this source of possible friction now.

President Eisenhower has sent to 11 other nations, including Russia, a note proposing an international conference to preserve the Antarctic for scientific research and prevent it from becoming a battleground. Though the time and place of the meeting are to be negotiated, the hope is for early action.

The note says that it would be desirable for these 12 nations, which have been conducting scientific work in the Antarctic as part of the International Geophysical Year, to continue their "friendly cooperation."

Along with the call for a conference there is a suggested solution for the problem. The American proposal is ingenious in that it does not suggest internationalization of the Antarctic or even a settlement of the conflicting claims that have been asserted there but, instead, that the status quo be frozen for the duration of the treaty. This seems like an approach that should recommend itself to the nations that have interests in the Antarctic Continent, including the seven that have asserted territorial claims there. They would lose nothing by such an agreement, they could continue adding to the world's knowledge of Antarctica, and they would make sure that rivalry there would be peaceful and mutually beneficial.

As for the nations not invited to confer, this American initiative is in their interest, too. If the ends sought are in fact achieved, all peoples will share in the benefits from the continuance of "friendly cooperation" among the 12 countries most concerned.

Stalin Was 'Take All, Give None'

By George Sokolsky

Many are surprised at the voluminous correspondence of the Russians in these days. This is nothing new. Stalin and Roosevelt carried on an extensive correspondence. Many of the letters are published for the years between 1941 and 1945. It is interesting, in view of the bitterness of the Kremlin toward the United States, that Stalin wrote Roosevelt on November 4, 1941: "Your decision, Mr. President, to grant the Soviet Union an interest-free loan to the value of $1,000,000,000 to meet deliveries of munitions and raw materials to the Soviet Union is accepted by the Soviet government with heartfelt gratitude as vital aid to the Soviet Union in its tremendous and onerous struggle against our common enemy—bloody Hitlerism."

That heartfelt gratitude did not long remain in Russian memory. By February 18, 1942 Stalin is more pushing and more demanding, as, for instance, this letter:

"I have received your message about U. S. arms deliveries in January and February. I stress that it is now, when the peoples of the Soviet Union and their army are bending their energies to throw the Hitler troops back by a tenacious offensive, that U. S. deliveries, including tanks and aircraft, are essential for our common cause and our further success."

However, when we came through with another billion dollars, it was received with "sincere gratitude." It is interesting to note in this correspondence how Roosevelt tries to jockey Stalin into a three-man summit conference and how adroitly Stalin dodges. He cannot leave the Soviet Union because events are so pressing, but he does not, in 1942, invite the President or

Churchill to visit him in Moscow. Also when Roosevelt offered to send planes to Siberia, Stalin countered with the proposal that the planes go to Nome, Alaska, where Russian pilots would take over. Roosevelt wanted to send American and British planes and crews to the Caucasus, but Stalin turned this down. He said:

"A feature of the Soviet Air Force is that we have more than enough pilots but suffer from a shortage of machines."

Stalin was willing to take planes and machinery, but he wanted no American personnel in Siberia or Russia. Note this, on January 13, 1943:

"As to sending bomber units to the Far East, I have already pointed out in my previous messages that what we need is not air force units, but planes without pilots, because we have more than enough pilots of our own. Secondly, we need your help in the way of aircraft not in the Far East where the U. S. S. R. is not in a state of war, but on the Soviet-German front, where the need for aircraft aid is particularly great."

"I was rather surprised at your proposal that General Bradley should inspect Russian military objectives in the Far East and elsewhere in the U. S. S. R. It would be perfectly obvious that only Russians can inspect Russian military objectives, just as U. S. military objectives can be inspected by none but Americans. There should be no unclarity in this matter."

"Concerning General Marshall's visit to the U. S. S. R. I must say I am not quite clear about his mission. Kindly advise me of the purpose of the visit so that I can consider the matter with full understanding and reply accordingly."

It would seem that this letter should have indicated to President Roosevelt that Stalin was not an ally but was fighting his own war in his own way in total disregard of his so-called allies who had already done so much for him and his country. However, Roosevelt persisted in his efforts toward building his Grand Alliance.

The letters provide one amazing clue to Russian policy; it is all take and no give. Stalin accepts everything; he gives nothing. He makes not a single concession but he is prepared to accept anything that is lying around loose.

Much correspondence passed between Stalin and Roosevelt on the Polish Question. As one reads these letters now, it is clear that Stalin had no intention of permitting a free Poland to come into existence.

Long before the war was over, Stalin showed not only his cloven hooves but his hellish horns. These two volumes of letters, edited by the Commission for the Publication of Diplomatic Documents of the Russian Foreign Office, are well worth reading.

Virus Battle Is not Won

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
What is medicine's greatest challenge?

Well, we have to solve the secret of heart disease and, of course, we must find a preventive and a cure for cancer.

But there also are many other problems facing our doctors and researchers. One of the biggest is the challenge of the virus. Among all our infectious processes, virus diseases present the greatest unsolved problem.

Viruses can cause at least 50 different diseases. While they seldom bring death, they do cause enormous physical and financial burdens to everyone. Each year about 5,000,000,000 (yes, that's five billion) man days are lost in this country because of virus diseases.

The average American can expect to be stricken by some sort of virus disease from four to six times this year.

Most of you can expect to be affected by virus diseases for 10 per cent of your lives. If you live to the age of 65—and statistics say most of you will—you probably will spend 6½ years of your lifetime suffering from virus diseases. See why it's such a tremendous problem?

Virus diseases can be mild or serious. We generally accept such ailments as chickenpox, measles, mumps, colds, influenza and various forms of pneumonia almost as inevitable. The more severe forms include paralytic polio and even rabies, which, if not treated in time, is always fatal.

Despite all our medical advances, we can provide effective protection against only five or six of the 50 virus diseases. With the wonderful Salk vaccine we could just about wipe out paralytic polio. With other inactivated virus vaccines we can prevent influenza and rabies.

Vaccines made of active virus can prevent yellow fever and smallpox. And we can give temporary protection against hepatitis and measles by using gamma globulin. But we can't prevent the common cold and the long list of other virus diseases.

However, a recent issue of "Public Health Reports" gives some encouragement. Dr. Frank L. Horsfall, Jr., physician-in-chief of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York City, reports development of new synthetic chemical compounds which are "highly effective" against various viruses in experiments with animals.

Perhaps it won't be so long before we can prevent, treat and even cure virus diseases.

Question and Answer
A. T.: One doctor told me that I had diverticulosis. Another said I had diverticulitis.

What is the difference?
Answer: Diverticulosis is a disease in which there are small out-pocketings of the large intestine at various places. A person may have as many as one hundred of these. Usually, there are no symptoms from this disease.

However, if inflammation occurs, the diverticulitis (the out-pocketings) become inflamed and infected and may cause bloody diarrhea with severe pain. There may be chills and fever along with these symptoms.

2-Legged, Half-Shelled Egg

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — She breaks into the room, glowing with the health of almost-five. No energy higher.

Or she sags into the room, like something pushed into our family light from outer dark. At almost-five — her own age and the hour — she has 10-o'clock shadow.

She melts upon the doorstep, worn out human butter, yells for the bathroom, then, later, at the entrance to her bedroom pleads against the indignity of a night that seals a day.

As a father I never am quite sure whether she has been drained by Dracula or whether she is Dracula. Are all children like this? Other parents say yes. I still wonder.

The bread I earn by my sweat to being home to make her stronger she often leaves by her plate. But to her I am the boy who may have gum in his pockets when he arrives at twilight. This is a hero?

It is one of the great titanic struggles of my life to deal with this thing, this spawn of time, this one-hearted, two-legged half-shelled egg, this creature that weeps and laughs and cries and plots and is my daughter.

It is called and answers to the name of Tracy. It was optimistic

tically labeled at baptism Margaret Tracy Ann Kathleen Boyle. In play it refers to itself as Susan. In wistful moments it says "I'm Margaret." This is the name of its paternal grandmother.

Ask a kiss from it and you get none. Insist you won't take any and get a wet face.

It must be around four feet or so tall, weighs about 50 pounds, unless you lift it. Then it is eight feet tall and weighs 1,617,312½ pounds.

It is also known by other aliases. A favorite is Cinderella, in which disguise, when asked to pick up its clothing, it has a set answer, plaintive but genteel, "Well, I can't be everywhere."

One who knows her wonders whether this isn't an understatement. In dealing with a child of this age a grownup has only two worries—what she is up to if you can see her, what she might be up to if you can't see her.

By almost-five you feel you can put some faith in her. You feel she has a sense of caution and won't do these things: Taste medicine, stand in a window, step into the street.

And yet what will she do in a single day? She will hold medicine to her mouth and ask, "Shall I?" She'll climb to the window. She'll run to the street and hold a foot over the pavement or maybe even put it down. But all before your eye.

You know she's daring you and herself. You know she's exploring your authority and why. Again you tell her the reasons for the rules, and you put a hardness and a softness into your voice. You tell her that if she ever breaks these few rules she'll hurt herself and that if she hurts herself she'll hurt you.

By this slender string of faith, all your discipline hangs on if you aren't there—that the child will follow the rules you made, not so much from fear of hurting itself but you, the home of love.

Confidence is a hard thing to put in any human being at any age, and it's always a matter of timing—when and to whom. But you have to.

At almost-five Tracy Ann, like a field dog, strains the outer limits of the leash one moment, the next comes back and chews at the thongs of the love she would not be without. All cubs play at life and freedom until . . .

Red Economic War on West Starts To Hurt

World's Metal Mart Jolted a Bit by Russian Exports

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Russia's economic war with the West—long pooh-poohed by American exporters—is beginning to hurt a little in at least one sector. World metal markets have been jolted a bit by Russian exports.

This comes at a time when American metal producers already are having troubles enough of their own.

Aluminum, tin, platinum and zinc as well as some of the steel alloys have felt the competition. And some of the price weakness in these metals is traced to an outpouring of Russian metal, especially into Western Europe.

The Russians can set their own prices—usually below the prevailing world price—because Soviet bookkeeping isn't hampered by such things as the cost of production or the need to break even.

There's no way of knowing Moscow's intentions: Whether Russia simply is producing more now and wants to sell surpluses to get funds needed for purchases of Western goods, or whether it is dumping the metal with a view to upsetting world markets and thus adding to whatever effect the American recession is having on Europe.

But Khrushchev boasts he plans to take world markets away from the United States, and the flurry in metals may be the first of these economic brush wars.

The price of platinum has just dropped here. The reason given by the trade is that Russia is selling the metal in Europe at cut prices and the competition must be met.

United Nations officials report that Russia is now entering the world markets as an exporter of tin. Other countries — Belgian Congo, Nigeria, Bolivia, Indonesia, Malaya and Thailand — have had this market to themselves. Already the price structure of the metal is weak, and production in the non-Communist world cut back so that the new competition is disturbing. The UN reports that last year the Soviets exported 6,613 tons of tin to western Europe for about 15 million dollars, compared with only 346 tons the year before. Some put current exports at 10,000 tons.

Whether the Soviet tin is coming from new ore discoveries in Russia, from China or from East Germany is not known.

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Art Deal Jr.

The ninth Annual Alumni Banquet was held Saturday evening in the school auditorium.

The color theme of pink and green was used throughout. A water-fall, with real water running into an artificial lake, was the center of attraction. A flower garden was built around this. A stone wall and flower-covered trellis were built across one end of the auditorium.

The 262 alumni and guests were seated under a false ceiling of pink and green streamers which covered the entire auditorium. The tables were decorated with pink and green streamers and vases of pink snapdragons and lilies-of-the-valley. A delicious roast turkey dinner was prepared by the Pythian Sister Lodge and served by about 20 boys and girls of the Sophomore and Junior class.

The honored guests were the class of 1908, 1933, and the graduating seniors. They were seated at the two main tables with alumni officers and their husbands and wives, George D. McDowell, county superintendent; Supt. and Mrs. John B. Hardin, Principal and Mrs. Clifford Mahaffey, grade school Principal and Mrs. Edwin Irwin, and the following faculty members: Miss Nellie Oesterle, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Courtright, Benis Lutz, and Everett Mehrley.

Wilbur Brinker was the only member of the 1908 class in attendance and members attending from the 1933 class were Gretchen Plum Featheringham, Kathleen Creager Cooper, Louise Ford Platt, Dorothy Costlow Reigel, Tina Mae Kuhlwein Brown and Dr. Charles Higley.

THE PROGRAM was opened with a welcome from the alumni president, Art Deal, Jr. Mrs. Featheringham led the group in singing "School Days" with her class of 1933 doing a solo and the school song "The Orange and the Black". Accompanying on the piano was Mrs. Martin Cromley.

Supt. Hardin presented the Senior class to the alumni. Vice-President Russ Gregg welcomed the seniors to the association. The response was given by Mary Jo Bowers, Senior Class president.

A short business meeting was held and the following officers were elected for 1958-59: President, Herbert Seymour; Vice-President, Doran Topolosky; Secretary, Mary Virginia Baum Wilson; and Treasurer, Jim Irwin. Roll call of each class was taken and the classes of 1955 and 57 had the greatest number in attendance.

Russell Hoover, Richard Hoover and Dick Hoover, all attending, represented three generations to be graduated from Ashville School.

Brinker was called upon from the 50-year class to make a few remarks and Dr. Higley from the 25-year class. The feature entertainment of the evening was Jack Lee, master of ceremonies; Roxanne, contortionist acrobat; and Mary Lou Pears, acordionist.

Several door prizes were given away and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing, card playing, and visiting.

Mothers, daughters and friends of Willing Workers Class of the First English Lutheran Church W.M.F. were present May 7 for the seventh annual banquet in their honor. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Frank Hudson. They were invited into the dining room where tables were gaily decorated in pastel colors and lovely spring flowers. Mrs. Emerson Dum, president, gave the invocation, followed by welcome to mothers given by Marty Dore and response to daughters by Mrs. Felix Dore.

After dinner, which was prepared and served by the Ash-ville - Lockbourne Guild, the program was presented. A girls chorus, Janet Bausum, Patti Bartholomew, Kathryn Gardner, Marty Dore, Susan Hoffines, Nancy Featheringham and Diane Boyer, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Flierl sang "All Things Bright and Beautiful" and a "A Mothers Day Prayer".

A playlet titled "Garland of Love", which characterized mothers and daughters of India and how our Mother's Day offerings, which are their only means of support are used, was portrayed by Mrs. Harry Trego, Mrs. Lowell Cooper, Mrs. Eddie Pritchard, Dianne Mallory, Carol Pritchard and Janet Bausum.

Life membership pins were presented by Mrs. Maynard Marion to Mrs. Clyde Brinker from her daughter, Miss Martha a Mary Brinker and to Mrs. Frank Hudson and Mrs. George Kuhlwein, Sr. from the Willing Workers.

The program was concluded with a piano solo by Mary Jo Bowers, followed by recognition of the oldest mother present, Mrs. J. B. Cromley, the youngest mother, Mrs. Raymond Canfield, and the mothers with the most daughters present who were Mrs. Lewis Cummins and Mrs. Eddie Pritchard, each with three daughters.

Flowers for the occasion were presented by William Fisher in loving memory of departed wives, mothers and grandmothers.

A DUTCH garden was the scene of the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet held in the Evangelical United Brethren Church Thursday evening. Tulips seemed to be growing everywhere and the programs were made in the form of a windmill. There were wooden shoes for favors.

A fried chicken dinner was served to 131 guests. The program included an invocation, Mrs. Roy Krieger; toasts, Connie Wean and Mrs. Don Wean; song, "Tip-Toe", Donna Lemon and Patricia Cook; welcome, Carolyn Newton and Mrs. Robert Newton; song "In a Little Dutch Garden", Mrs. Steve Cook; skit, "Three Daughters in a Law", Mrs. Jessie Hoover, Mrs. Bates Alexander, Mrs. Mary Pearce, Mrs. Carl Kreiger, Mrs. Charles Moss, Mrs. Donald Jewell, Mrs. Jack Lemon, and Mrs. Carl Groff; Mother's Day Song by Carolyn Newton; song "Old Grey Bonnet" by Mrs. Cook, joined in by mothers and daughters; prayer-poem, Carol Cook; and a reading "Mother" by Mrs. John Moss.

For an old fashioned band concert in the park followed by an ice cream social you are urged to attend the Ashville School "Band Concert" in the Ashville Community Park, beginning at 6:30 p. m. today. In case of rain it will be held Thursday.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon's confidence in his ability to talk on his feet got him into one of the most embarrassing moments of his career: the stoning and spitting inflicted upon him by college students in Lima, Peru.

He knew there might be trouble if he tried to talk to them. He didn't have to go near them. But on his own he decided he would. It wasn't the first time he had faced hostile college youths.

After all, he was an expert in talking to college groups. He had won a prize for doing just that years before.

From the time he first landed in South America late in April Nixon had run into trouble with college boys. Some of them he faced and was so effective that they wound up applauding.

But in Lima it was different. The student federation of 400-year-old San Marcos University had adopted a resolution — perhaps Communist-inspired — saying Nixon was unwelcome in Peru. It wasn't a personal thing.

They were expressing antagonism to the United States whose

Firm's Profit-Sharing Plan Ruled To Be 'Too Generous'

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal judge called Consolidation Coal Co.'s profit-sharing plan irrational and too generous and ordered the firm not to bring any more employees under the plan.

Judge Charles J. McNamee's opinion said the plan covering more than 40 of the firm's employees enriched the executives beyond the value of their services. His ruling on a lawsuit brought by stockholder Abram J. Berkwitz, 73, of Brookline, Mass., came late Monday—eight years to the day after the suit was filed.

The ruling is expected to set a precedent for other corporations.

George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the treasury, was one of the defendants, as an officer of the company. Judge McNamee ruled in favor of Humphrey and another officer, R. L. Ireland, on Berkwitz's complaint that the two officers had acquired consolidation stock from the company on excessively liberal credit terms.

Humphrey and Ireland were not participants in the profit-sharing plan, so the verdict on that part of the case did not affect them personally.

Also not affected are the employees already covered. None of them were parties to the suit, and

Village To Lose Its Lone Industry

BOWLING GREEN (AP)—A spokesman for National Gypsum Co. says its plant at Puckey will be shut down permanently within a few days and put up for sale.

The plant employs 100 and is Luckey's only industry. Another industrial plant at Luckey, operated by Brush-Beryllium Co., is being deactivated with its activities moving to a $4½ million facility near Elmore.

John C. Downey, manager of National Gypsum's Gibsonburg plant, said demand for lime products is not sufficient to warrant continued operation of the Luckey factory. He said only a few of the affected employees will be absorbed in the Gibsonburg operation.

Two popular strains of swine have been developed by Ohio hog breeders, the Ohio Improved Chester Whites and the Poland China.

Romance Revived After 35 Years

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP)—Miss Bertha Habberfield and Harry Duffy, whose romance faded 35 years ago, are now married.

They were brought together again by a delicate operation on Miss Habberfield's eye.

When they split up in nearby Dundee, Duffy moved here, married and went to work for the New York Central Railroad. His wife died. They had no children.

Last January, Miss Habberfield, blind from cataracts, regained the sight of one eye after surgery.

Duffy heard she was at the hospital and stopped to see her. He made daily visits and then proposed.

He explained his reason: his belief in the importance of freedom of speech. When he arrived at the university, he got the stoning and spitting. It became an international incident. President Eisenhower congratulated him on his courage.

Courage it took, but there was something besides courage involved: was it wise for the vice president to expose himself not only to personal danger but through what happened to him, embarrassment for the United States?

Nixon was an expert debater when he went to Whittier College in California and won the Southern California extemporaneous speaking title in 1934.

This ability to think fast and talk on his feet, both eloquently and persuasively, has stood him in good stead throughout his spectacular political career up to this time. And he's still only 45.

It's unlikely what happened in Peru will hurt him politically. It may not help him much politically, either.

Defense Accuses Star Witness

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—American-born woodcutter Peter Manuel, accused of eight murders, went on trial for his life here Monday. In a dramatic twist, his defense attorney pointed to a prosecution witness and accused him of three of the slayings.

Manuel has pleaded innocent to murdering three teen-age girls, three women, a man and a boy.

The prosecution witness, William Watt, was waiting to give evidence when Manuel's attorney pointed him out to the jury.

The attorney charged that it was Watt, and not Manuel, who shot three women to death in their Lanarkshire home.

Red Economic War on West Starts To Hurt

World's Metal Mart Jolted a Bit by Russian Exports

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Russia's economic war with the West—long pooh-poohed by American exporters—is beginning to hurt a little in at least one sector. World metal markets have been jolted a bit by Russian exports.

This comes at a time when American metal producers already are having troubles enough of their own.

Aluminum, tin, platinum and zinc as well as some of the steel alloys have felt the competition. And some of the price weakness in these metals is traced to an outpouring of Russian metal, especially into Western Europe.

The Russians can set their own prices—usually below the prevailing world price—because Soviet bookkeeping isn't hampered by such things as the cost of production or the need to break even.

There's no way of knowing Moscow's intentions: Whether Russia simply is producing more now and wants to sell surpluses to get funds needed for purchases of Western goods, or whether it is dumping the metal with a view to upsetting world markets and thus adding to whatever effect the American recession is having on Europe.

But Khrushchev boasts he plans to take world markets away from the United States, and the flurry in metals may be the first of these economic brush wars.

The price of platinum has just dropped here. The reason given by the trade is that Russia is selling the metal in Europe at cut prices and the competition must be met.

United Nations officials report that Russia is now entering the world markets as an exporter of tin. Other countries — Belgian Congo, Nigeria, Bolivia, Indonesia, Malaya and Thailand — have had this market to themselves. Already the price structure of the metal is weak, and production in the non-Communist world cut back so that the new competition is disturbing. The UN reports that last year the Soviets exported 6,613 tons of tin to western Europe for about 15 million dollars, compared with only 346 tons the year before. Some put current exports at 10,000 tons.

Whether the Soviet tin is coming from new ore discoveries in Russia, from China or from East Germany is not known.

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Art Deal Jr.

The ninth Annual Alumni Banquet was held Saturday evening in the school auditorium.

The color theme of pink and green was used throughout. A water-fall, with real water running into an artificial lake, was the center of attraction. A flower garden was built around this. A stone wall and flower-covered trellis were built across one end of the auditorium.

The 262 alumni and guests were seated under a false ceiling of pink and green streamers which covered the entire auditorium. The tables were decorated with pink and green streamers and vases of pink snapdragons and lilies-of-the-valley. A delicious roast turkey dinner was prepared by the Pythian Sister Lodge and served by about 20 boys and girls of the Sophomore and Junior class.

The honored guests were the class of 1908, 1933, and the graduating seniors. They were seated at the two main tables with alumni officers and their husbands and wives, George D. McDowell, county superintendent; Supt. and Mrs. John B. Hardin, Principal and Mrs. Clifford Mahaffey, grade school Principal and Mrs. Edwin Irwin, and the following faculty members: Miss Nellie Osterley, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Courtright, Benis Lutz, and Everett Mehler.

Wilbur Brinker was the only member of the 1908 class in attendance and members attending from the 1933 class were Gretchen Plum Featheringham, Kathleen Creager Cooper, Louise Ford Platt, Dorothy Costlow Reigel, Tina Mae Kuhlwein Brown and Dr. Charles Higley.

THE PROGRAM was opened with a welcome from the alumni president, Art Deal, Jr. Mrs. Featheringham led the group in singing "School Days" with her class of 1933 doing a solo and the school song "The Orange and the Black". Accompanying on the piano was Mrs. Martin Cromley.

Supt. Hardin presented the Senior class to the alumni. Vice-President Russ Gregg welcomed the seniors to the association. The response was given by Mary Jo Bowers, Senior Class President.

A short business meeting was held and the following officers were elected for 1958-59: President, Herbert Seymour; Vice-President, Doran Topolosky; Secretary, Mary Virginia Baum Wilson; and Treasurer, Jim Irwin. Roll call of each class was taken and the classes of 1955 and 57 had the greatest number in attendance.

Russell Hoover, Richard Hoover and Dick Hoover, all attending, represented three generations to be graduated from Ashville School.

Brinker was called upon from the 50-year class to make a few remarks and Dr. Higley from the 25-year class. The feature entertainment of the evening was Jack Lee, master of ceremonies; Roxanne, contortionist; acrobat; and Mary Lou Pears, accordionist.

Several door prizes were given away and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing, card playing, and visiting.

Mothers, daughters and friends of Willing Workers Class of the First English Lutheran Church W.M.F. were present May 7 for the seventh annual banquet in their honor. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Frank Hudson. They were invited into the dining room where tables were gayly decorated in pastel colors and lovely spring flowers. Mrs. Emerson Dum, president, gave the invocation, followed by welcome to mothers given by Marty Dore and response to daughters by Mrs. Felix Dore.

After dinner, which was prepared and served by the Ash-

ville - Lockbourne Guild, the program was presented. A girls chorus, Janet Bausum, Patti Bartholomew, Kathryn Gardner, Marty Dore, Susan Hoffines, Nancy Featheringham and Diane Boyer, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Flieri sang "All Things Bright and Beautiful" and a "A Mothers Day Prayer".

A playlet titled "Garland of Love", which characterized mothers and daughters of India and how our Mother's Day offerings, which are their only means of support are used, was portrayed by Mrs. Harry Trego, Mrs. Lowell Cooper, Mrs. Eddie Pritchard, Di- Anne Mallory, Carol Pritchard and Janet Bausum.

Life membership pins were presented by Mrs. Maynard Marion to Mrs. Clyde Brinker from her daughter, Miss Martha Mary Brinker and to Mrs. Frank Hudson and Mrs. George Kuhlwein, Sr. from the Willing Workers.

The program was concluded with a piano solo by Mary Jo Bowers, followed by recognition of the oldest mother present, Mrs. J. B. Cromley, the youngest mother, Mrs. Raymond Canfield, and the mothers with the most daughters present who were Mrs. Lewis Cummins and Mrs. Eddie Pritchard, each with three daughters.

Flowers for the occasion were presented by William Fisher in loving memory of departed wives, mothers and grandmothers.

A DUTCH garden was the scene of the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet held in the Evangelical United Brethren Church Thursday evening. Tulips seemed to be growing everywhere and the programs were made in the form of a windmill. There were wooden shoes for favors.

A fried chicken dinner was served to 131 guests. The program included an invocation, Mrs. Roy Krieger; toasts, Connie Wean and Mrs. Don Wean; song, "Tip-Toe"; Donna Lemon and Patricia Cook; welcome, Carolyn Newton and Mrs. Robert Newton; song "In a Little Dutch Garden"; Mrs. Steve Cook;

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon's confidence in his ability to talk on his feet got him into one of the most embarrassing moments of his career: the stoning and spitting inflicted upon him by college students in Lima, Peru.

He knew there might be trouble if he tried to talk to them. He didn't have to go near them. But on his own he decided he would. It wasn't the first time he had faced hostile college youths.

After all, he was an expert in talking to college groups. He had won a prize for doing just that years before.

From the time he first landed in South America late in April Nixon had run into trouble with college boys. Some of them he faced and was so effective that they wound up applauding.

But in Lima it was different. The student federation of 400-year old San Marcos University had adopted a resolution — perhaps Communist-inspired — saying Nixon was unwelcome in Peru. It wasn't a personal thing.

They were expressing antagonism to the United States whose policies — particularly economic policies in dealing with Latin Americans — have been under growing criticism. This criticism can hardly be attributed entirely to Communists.

Peruvian authorities reportedly urged Nixon not to go near the university in Lima because they feared serious trouble. But he went and later said the decision to go was entirely his own.

He explained his reason: his belief in the importance of freedom of speech. When he arrived at the university, he got the stoning and spitting. It became an international incident. President Eisenhower congratulated him on his courage.

Courage it took, but there was something besides courage involved: was it wise for the vice president to expose himself not to personal danger but through what happened to him, embarrassment for the United States?

Nixon was an expert debater when he went to Whittier College in California and won the Southern California extemporaneous speaking title in 1934.

This ability to think fast and talk on his feet, both eloquently and persuasively, has stood him in good stead throughout his spectacular political career up to this time. And he's still only 45.

It's unlikely what happened in Peru will hurt him politically. It may not help him much politically, either.

Firm's Profit-Sharing Plan Ruled To Be 'Too Generous'

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal judge called Consolidation Coal Co.'s profit-sharing plan irrational and too generous and ordered the firm not to bring any more employees under the plan.

Judge Charles J. McNamee's opinion said the plan covering more than 40 of the firm's employees enriched the executives beyond the value of their services. His ruling on a lawsuit brought by stockholder Abram J. Berkwitz, 73, of Brookline, Mass., came late Monday—eight years to the day after the suit was filed.

The ruling is expected to set a precedent for other corporations. George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the treasury, was one of the defendants, as an officer of the company. Judge McNamee ruled in favor of Humphrey and another officer, R. L. Ireland, on Berkwitz's complaint that the two officers had acquired consolidation stock from the company on excessively liberal credit terms.

Humphrey and Ireland were not participants in the profit-sharing plan, so the verdict on that part of the case did not affect them personally. Also not affected are the employees already covered. None of them were parties to the suit, and McNamee held that his ruling could not affect their prior arrangements with the company.

Berkwitz, a minor stockholder, had asked monetary damages, but none was awarded.

The company's "management unit plan" assigned the employee a certain number of units varying from 400 to 10,000. Each unit has a value in dollars based on the current market value of the firm's stock. Originally the units had been valued at $18, and they increased in value to $35.

Whenever dividends were declared, an employee was credited with the amount of dividend he would have received if each unit had been a share of stock.

Up to this point McNamee agreed with the defendants that the plan was not out of line with incentive programs in other industries.

But he attacked a feature of the plan which provided that the employee, on leaving the company, could receive a bonus measured by the increased market value of the stock from the time his units were assigned.

Thus, an employee who entered the plan when the stock was valued at $18 and left the company at the end of last year would have received a bonus for each unit equal to the difference between $18 and $35.

The judge called the profit-sharing plan a misuse of corporate funds.

Trial Dates Set In Swindle Case

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—June trial dates have been set for two men accused of participating in a quarter-million-dollar insurance claims swindle here.

The two are William Glaros, 44, operator of the Glaros Printing Co., who will go on trial June 3, and Vincent Serman, attorney, whose trial is set to start June 16. Both are charged with embezzlement.

Authorities accused Glaros of faking a newspaper clipping reporting a $60,000 accident that never happened. Serman is accused of aiding John J. Tobin Jr., in two wrong claims, one for $2,441 and another for $6,343.

Village To Lose Its Lone Industry

BOWLING GREEN (AP)—A spokesman for National Gypsum Co. says its plant at Puckey will be shut down permanently within a few days and put up for sale.

The plant employs 100 and is Luckey's only industry. Another industrial plant at Luckey, operated by Brush-Beryllium Co., is being deactivated with its activities moving to a $4½ million facility near Elmore.

John C. Downey, manager of National Gypsum's Gibsonburg plant, said demand for lime products is not sufficient to warrant continued operation of the Luckey factory. He said only a few of the affected employees will be absorbed in the Gibsonburg operation.

Two popular strains of swine have been developed by Ohio hog breeders, the Ohio Improved Chester Whites and the Poland China.

Romance Revived After 35 Years

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP)—Miss Bertha Habberfield and Harry Duffy, whose romance faded 35 years ago, are now married.

They were brought together again by a delicate operation on Miss Habberfield's eye.

When they split up in nearby Dundee, Duffy moved here, married and went to work for the New York Central Railroad. His wife died. They had no children.

Last January, Miss Habberfield, blind from cataracts, regained the sight of one eye after surgery.

Duffy heard she was at the hospital and stopped to see her. He made daily visits and then proposed.

Defense Accuses Star Witness

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—American-born woodcutter Peter Manuel, accused of eight murders, went on trial for his life here Monday. In a dramatic twist, his defense attorney pointed to a prosecution witness and accused him of three of the slayings.

Manuel has pleaded innocent to murdering three teen-age girls, three women, a man and a boy. The prosecution witness, William Watt, was waiting to give evidence when Manuel's attorney pointed him out to the jury.

The attorney charged that it was Watt, and not Manuel, who shot three women to death in their Lanarkshire home.

Thank you friends for your support in Tuesday's Primary election for County Commissioner.

Vets Allowed One GI Loan

Guarantee Runs 1 Mortgage Only

(Questions of interest to ex-servicemen should be passed to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the courthouse.)

Q—Some years ago, I made a GI loan, and purchased a small house. I did not use up my entire guarantee on this loan. I would like to make another GI loan now, and since I still have some guarantee left, can I do so?

A—A veteran is not allowed two GI loans at the same time, regardless of the fact that he has some guarantee left. Now, if you were to completely dispose of your first property, by selling it to some one else and paying off the entire mortgage, or by paying off the mortgage yourself, you could then get another GI loan with your remaining guarantee provided you could find an agency to lend the money to you.

Q—Is it true that the VA will automatically cancel a GI insurance policy if the holder accepts employment that is hazardous?

A—No, that is not true. Nothing could be more untrue. The VA never will cancel your GI insurance unless you fail to make timely payments of your premiums. The fact that you may have employment that is hazardous has no bearing.

Q—I am a World War I veteran, receiving a total non-service connected pension. Recently I received a gift of money from some of my relatives. Must I report this to the VA as income?

A—Yes. Money gifts are considered as income for pension purposes and must be reported.

Q—I HAVE a service connected disability rated at 30 per cent. Am I entitled to extra compensation because of my dependents?

A—Sorry, but you are not. You must have a service connected disability rated at 50 per cent or more before you can receive extra compensation because of dependents.

Q—I have heard a rumor to the effect that direct GI loans will not be available until after July 1, yet I have never read this fact in the newspaper. Is it true?

A—It is true. There will be no direct GI loan money available until after July 1, which is the starting of the VA fiscal year. However, if you are interested in a direct loan, it is advisable to get on the VA waiting list for one.

Lausche Absolved In Traffic Mishap

CLEVELAND (AP)—U. S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche has been absolved of blame for a traffic accident in which a woman was injured by the car he was driving.

Assistant Police Prosecutor Anthony Lysowski said Monday that investigation showed the brakes failed on the borrowed car the senator was driving last Friday when it struck Miss Mary Anne Weaver, 34, in downtown Cleveland. There was no indication of negligence on Lausche's part.

Miss Weaver, a store clerk, is hospitalized for broken ribs and cuts. Police said she was hit at a point where pedestrians are barred from crossing.

Overland Arguing For Return of Tax

TOLEDO (AP)—Overland Corp. began arguments in a U. S. Tax Court Monday in an effort to recover approximately $12 million it claims it paid in excess profits tax for manufacture of Jeep vehicles during World War II.

Willys Motors, Inc., is not involved in the proceedings. It now is a subsidiary of the Kaiser Corp.

Attorneys for Overland contend that the research and development, around which Willys standardized Jeep, resulted in abnormal income within a certain section of the Internal Revenue Code. They hold that this income should be allocated back to the years of 1938 through 1942.

Underground Park Group Optimistic

COLUMBUS (AP)—Rejection of its test case by the Ohio Supreme Court hasn't discouraged the Underground Parking Commission from trying to build a 1,200-car garage under the statehouse grounds, says its chairman.

William Knepper said Monday that procedure for issuing $5 million worth of revenue bonds is being studied. The bonds would pay for the underground project.

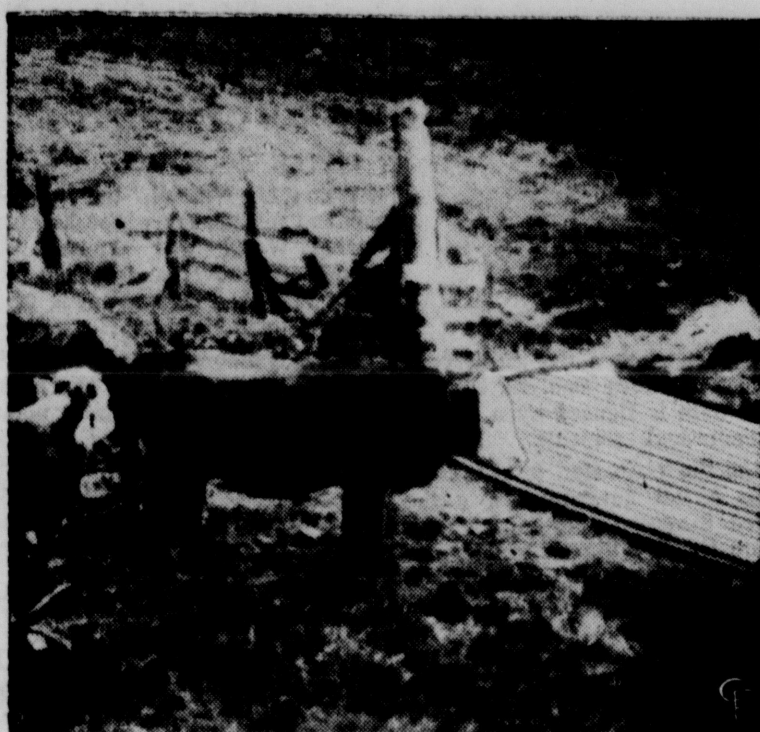

The commission tried to test the constitutionality of the law which created it by filing suit in the Ohio Supreme Court last fall.

Cattle Guard Keeps 'Em Home

By VANCE ORCHARD
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WALLA WALLA, Wash. — The history of the West would be rewritten if Ernie Wells had invented his newly-patented cattle guard earlier. Cowboys aren't needed to ride herd on the livestock and rustling would be a highly discouraging proposition.

Wells has been making money with his chrome mine in the nearby mountain town of Joseph. A lot of his money has been invested in fine cattle. Ernie just couldn't stand the idea of paying a half dozen cowboys to stand guard over his valuable stock.

Wells' inventive ingenuity went to work and came up with the contraption which is going into mass production in three factories in the northwest.

Ernie's invention is basically a wooden frame with 22 strips of elastic (usually rubber) material suspended about four inches above the road surface. The frame is chemically treated to resist rot. These elastic strips are charged with electricity. There are no pit, concrete piers, or rigid wooden or steel cross members involved.

The rubber strips carry an elec-

Sheriff's Widow Named to Post In Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—Mrs. Lucille Justice is the new Scioto County sheriff. She is the widow of Sheriff Burl E. Justice, who died Monday from an accidental gunshot wound inflicted by a Boy Scout.

Appointed by county commissioners, Mrs. Justice will serve until November when voters will elect a sheriff. She has served as deputy in the sheriff's office, jail matron and bookkeeper there for many years.

Sheriff Justice, 53, was fatally wounded in the back Feb. 13. A 12-year-old Boy Scout, Herschel Travis, was visiting the sheriff's office during a weapons demonstration. He picked up the sheriff's .38 caliber revolver from a desk, unaware it was loaded, and accidentally fired it.

Newly-Rich Riley Clan Heads Home

CANTON (AP)—Thirteen Rileys are headed here today from Scotland, some for the first time and some returning home.

Coming home are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Riley and two of their children. With them are Riley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Riley of Horden in England's County Durham, who won a record $385,200 in a British football pool.

Also on the plane that's bringing them here are three of Thomas Riley's other children and four other grandchildren.

Harry Riley and his family had been visiting his folks.

tric current that is harmless but yet packing enough sting to halt livestock effectively. Attached to the frame are non-corrosive steel cables, which anchor the frame to the fence line. End barrier wires are attached to the guard frame and fence posts with special insulators.

The strips and barrier wires are activated by a conventional electric fence charger operating from a six-volt battery. All electrical parts are insulated and the entire guard is completely weather-proofed.

Easy to install and fully portable, the cattle guard can be unpacked and set up and put in working order in 30 minutes, Wells says. The guard can be handily moved from one spot to another, as the need may dictate. Most important in this day of high-priced beef, the guard keeps cattle hemmed in so that the loss through injury and wandering away and even thieving is reduced to a minimum.

Whatever the road bed will hold, the guard will hold. Wells proved that with trucks. The rubber band qualities of a slower snap-back so that the strips would not catch on the undercarriage of a car or truck.

A short training procedure is recommended with installation of this setup, particularly in cases where there are the usual "problem" animals, as so many farmers and ranchers have.

Once these fractious livestock learn that there is a stinging electrical sting awaiting them when they try to venture outside specified bounds, they become quite amenable and content with the surroundings assigned to them.

Pharmacists Urge Ban on Chemicals

CINCINNATI (AP)—The president-elect of the Ohio State Pharmaceutical Assn. declared here Monday Ohio druggists favor a law prohibiting sale of explosive chemicals to minors unless they are accompanied by their parents.

Frederick G. Herbst of Dayton, here for the opening of the pharmaceutical association's annual convention, said experiments by youthful rocket makers have become a national problem because of the danger in using chemicals.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: When I was 12 I began to love a man about 15 years my senior, who later became my teacher for two consecutive years in high school. I am 17 now and my love is still growing, though I seldom see him.

Usually he ignores me unless I speak first. Last time we met he winked at me, while extending a greeting—which will give you an idea of the kind of person he is. Even if I were older and classier I wouldn't have a chance with him.

I've never been the butterfly type. Recently I've had little time or energy for anything — due to school work, worry and outside jobs. I've tried hard to excel, but have no certainty that my father can afford to send me to college, or that I can manage alone.

My mother has an awful temper and resents all that I've been able to accomplish. She has stolen my money, tried to destroy my typewriter and we often engage in physical and verbal battles, which she starts and I win. When she runs out of spiteful things to say to me, she turns on my dad. Also she mistreats my 5-year-old brother emotionally. I remember she acted the same towards me at that age.

I could handle my problems if they came separately; but lots of times I feel that I am in a shrinking room from which there is no escape. I have tried to pray, but my problems are still there when I turn back to them. Over a year ago I could have eloped with a college boy; but wanted to finish my education. I have since regretted this decision.

I have considered running away to another town, changing my name and making a living as best I can, but have decided against that too. I could pass for 21; and my parents would be glad to get rid of me. This is the end of the line. If something or someone doesn't help me soon, suicide is the only thing left.

K.S.

DEAR K.S.: You probably can't make headway in solving your problems, until you have found a sage confidante — with whom to talk things over thoroughly.

Fortunately for you, there is a first rate Family Service Agency in the city from which you write — top notch in the sense that its

Ohio's Status On Roads Eyed

State Ahead on Plans, Behind on Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio leads the nation in the progress of its interstate roads building program, but trails a number of states in mileage near completion.

A spokesman for the public roads bureau said today there is nothing contradictory about this.

"What we measure a state's progress by is the money it has obligated for roads," he said. "Using that as a standard, Ohio is at the top of the heap."

"You can't really tell much by comparing mileage in the different states. The cost of construction varies so much."

Latest figures at the roads bureau, dated March 31, 1958, show Ohio had a total of $114,676,000 obligated for 98.4 miles of the interstate system.

The same table shows that only 31.6 miles of this are in some stage of completion—either graded or actually paved.

Another factor to be considered is that the states have varying mileages to complete in the interstate system in the allotted 13-year period.

Ohio's mileage is 1,344, whereas Texas' is 2,880 miles, more than twice the length.

One stretch of interstate mileage that will not be eligible for federal aid is the Ohio Turnpike.

This, like other turnpikes, is expected to remain a toll road until the bonds are paid off. Once it becomes a free road, the state

Bender Said Slated For Old GOP Post

CLEVELAND (AP)—Former U. S. Sen. George H. Bender is to resume his old post as co-chairman of the Republican Party's Cuyahoga County organization.

At Wednesday's party convention, the Cleveland News said, Bender will nominate A. L. (Sonny) DeMaioibus, the present county chief, as chairman of both the central and executive committee. In turn, Bender will be named vice chairman of both committees.

Bender also said he plans to resign his government post. He now is serving as a special consultant to the Interior Department at $75 per day. He added he expects to be offered another key spot within the government in the near future but hasn't decided whether to accept it.

will then be eligible for federal assistance.

"By that time," the roads bureau spokesman said, "perhaps the traffic will have grown so much that another lane each way will have to be added."

Builders Respect Man's Best Friend

VIRGINIA, Minn. (AP)—Sport, who stole the hearts of his owners before he died seven years ago, will remain undisturbed in his grave.

A construction crew building a road to a telephone company microwave substation north of here came upon the dog's grave last week while cutting timber.

The wooden marker, engraved with the inscription, "Sport, he stole our hearts, but his maker took him back, June 19, 1951," apparently moved the workmen.

The road was rerouted.

Lausche Absolved In Traffic Mishap

CLEVELAND (AP)—U. S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche has been absolved of blame for a traffic accident in which a woman was injured by the car he was driving.

Assistant Police Prosecutor Anthony Lysowski said Monday that investigation showed the brakes failed on the borrowed car the senator was driving last Friday when it struck Miss Mary Anne Weaver, 34, in downtown Cleveland. There was no indication of negligence on Lausche's part.

Miss Weaver, a store clerk, is hospitalized for broken ribs and cuts. Police said she was hit at a point where pedestrians are barred from crossing.

Overland Arguing For Return of Tax

TOLEDO (AP)—Overland Corp. began arguments in a U. S. Tax Court Monday in an effort to recover approximately $12 million it claims it paid in excess profits tax for manufacture of Jeep vehicles during World War II.

Willis Motors, Inc., is not involved in the proceedings. It now is a subsidiary of the Kaiser Corp.

Attorneys for Overland contend that the research and development, around which Willis standardized Jeep, resulted in abnormal income within a certain section of the Internal Revenue Code. They hold that this income should be allocated back to the years of 1938 through 1942.

Underground Park Group Optimistic

COLUMBUS (AP)—Rejection of its test case by the Ohio Supreme Court hasn't discouraged the Underground Parking Commission from trying to build a 1,200-car garage under the statehouse grounds, says its chairman.

William Knepper said Monday that procedure for issuing $5 million worth of revenue bonds is being studied. The bonds would pay for the underground project.

The commission tried to test the constitutionality of the law which created it by filing suit in the Ohio Supreme Court last fall.

Cattle Guard Keeps 'Em Home

By VANCE ORCHARD
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WALLA WALLA, Wash. — The history of the West would be rewritten if Ernie Wells had invented his newly-patented cattle guard earlier. Cowboys aren't needed to ride herd on the livestock and rustling would be a highly discouraging proposition.

Wells had been making money with his chrome mine in the nearby mountain town of Joseph. A lot of his money has been invested in fine cattle. Ernie just couldn't stand the idea of paying a half dozen cowboys to stand guard over his valuable stock.

Wells' inventive ingenuity went to work and came up with the contraption which is going into mass production in three factories in the northwest.

Ernie's invention is basically a wooden frame with 22 strips of elastic (usually rubber) material suspended about four inches above the road surface. The frame is chemically treated to resist rot. These elastic strips are charged with electricity. There are no pit, concrete piers, or rigid wooden or steel cross members involved.

The rubber strips carry an electric current that is harmless but yet packing enough sting to halt livestock effectively. Attached to the frame are non-corrosive steel cables, which anchor the frame to the fence line. End barrier wires are attached to the guard frame and fence posts with special insulators.

The strips and barrier wires are activated by a conventional electric fence charger operating from a six-volt battery. All electrical parts are insulated and the entire guard is completely weather-proofed.

Easy to install and fully portable, the cattle guard can be unpacked and set up and put in working order in 30 minutes, Wells says. The guard can be handily moved from one spot to another, as the need may dictate. Most important in this day of high-priced beef, the guard keeps cattle hemmed in so that the loss through injury and wandering away and even thieving is reduced to a minimum.

Whatever the road bed will hold, the guard will hold. Wells proved that with trucks. The rubber had qualities of a slower snap-back so that the strips would not catch on the undercarriage of a car or truck.

A short training procedure is recommended with installation of this setup, particularly in cases where there are the usual "problem" animals, as so many farmers and ranchers have.

Once these fractious livestock learn that there is a stinging electrical sting awaiting them when they try to venture outside specified bounds, they become quite amenable and content with the surroundings assigned to them.

Sheriff's Widow Named to Post In Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—Mrs. Lucille Justice is the new Scioto County sheriff. She is the widow of Sheriff Burl E. Justice, who died Monday from an accidental gunshot wound inflicted by a Boy Scout.

Appointed by county commissioners, Mrs. Justice will serve until November when voters will elect a sheriff. She has served as deputy in the sheriff's office, jail matron and bookkeeper there for many years.

Sheriff Justice, 53, was fatally wounded in the back Feb. 13. A 12-year-old Boy Scout, Herschel Travis, was visiting the sheriff's office during a weapons demonstration. He picked up the sheriff's .38 caliber revolver from a desk, unaware it was loaded, and accidentally fired it.

Newly-Rich Riley Clan Heads Home

CANTON (AP)—Thirteen Rileys are headed here today from Scotland, some for the first time and some returning home.

Coming home are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Riley and two of their children. With them are Riley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Riley of Horden in England's County Durham, who won a record $385,200 in a British football pool.

Also on the plane that's bringing them here are three of Thomas Riley's other children and four other grandchildren.

Harry Riley and his family had been visiting his folks.

Pharmacists Urge Ban on Chemicals

CINCINNATI (AP)—The president-elect of the Ohio State Pharmaceutical Assn. declared here Monday Ohio druggists favor a law prohibiting sale of explosive chemicals to minors unless they are accompanied by their parents.

Frederick G. Herbst of Dayton, here for the opening of the pharmaceutical association's annual convention, said experiments by youthful rocket makers have become a national problem because of the danger in using chemicals.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: When I was 12 I began to love a man about 15 years my senior, who later became my teacher for two consecutive years in high school. I am 17 now and my love is still growing, though I seldom see him.

Usually he ignores me unless I speak first. Last time we met he winked at me, while extending a greeting—which will give you an idea of the kind of person he is. Even if I were older and classier I wouldn't have a chance with him.

I've never been the butterfly type. Recently I've had little time or energy for anything — due to school work, worry and outside jobs. I've tried hard to excel, but have no certainty that my father can afford to send me to college, or that I can manage alone.

My mother has an awful temper and resents all that I've been able to accomplish. She has stolen my money, tried to destroy my type, in physical and verbal battles, which she starts and I win. When she runs out of spiteful things to say to me, she turns on my dad. Also she mistreats my 5-year-old brother emotionally. I remember she acted the same towards me at that age.

I could handle my problems if they came separately; but lots of times I feel that I am in a shrinking room from which there is no escape. I have tried to pray, but my problems are still there when I turn back to them. Over a year ago I could have eloped with a college boy; but wanted to finish my education. I have since regretted this decision.

I have considered running away to another town, changing my name and making a living as best I can, but have decided against that too. I could pass for 21; and my parents would be glad to get rid of me. This is the end of the line. If something or someone doesn't help me soon, suicide is the only thing left.

K.S.

DEAR K.S.: You probably can't make headway in solving your problems, until you have found a safe confidante — with whom to talk things over thoroughly.

Fortunately for you, there is a first rate Family Service Agency in the city from which you write — top notch in the sense that its

Ohio's Status On Roads Eyed

State Ahead on Plans, Behind on Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio leads the nation in the progress of its interstate roads building program, but trails a number of states in mileage near completion.

A spokesman for the public roads bureau said today there is nothing contradictory about this.

"What we measure a state's program by is the money it has obligated for roads," he said. "Using that as a standard, Ohio is at the top of the heap."

"You can't really tell much by comparing mileage in the different states. The cost of construction varies so much."

Latest figures at the roads bureau, dated March 31, 1958, show Ohio had a total of $114,676,000 obligated for 98.4 miles of the interstate system.

The same table shows that only 31.6 miles of this are in some stage of completion—either graded or actually paved.

Another factor to be considered is that the states have varying mileages to complete in the interstate system in the allotted 13-year period.

Ohio's mileage is 1,344, whereas Texas' is 2,889 miles, more than twice the length.

One stretch of interstate mileage that will not be eligible for federal aid is the Ohio Turnpike.

This, like other turnpikes, is expected to remain a toll road until the bonds are paid off. Once it becomes a free road, the state counselors are truly interested in helping people, in a sympathetic enlightened way. There is nothing trite or condescending about their warm response to clients' appeals for guidance and support in emergency.

As of now, you are socially isolated to the nth degree. You are indeed just about at the end of your rope, going it alone. Your first necessity, therefore, is to establish contact with a friendly specialist in the field of human relations, who will help you get your bearings, in respect to your difficulties, and guide you in planning a course of action that leads "out of the woods."

Your mother has failed you miserably; but perhaps "to understand all is to forgive all," in the case of a woman so desperately unstable. Her cruelly unhappy treatment of you and your father and brother show that she is an obsessively neurotic woman, haggard by nightmarish torments deep in her soul.

Once more, may I emphasize that the Family Service Agency can guide you well in that respect too. So, check in there, immediately.

Bender Said Slated For Old GOP Post

CLEVELAND (AP)—Former U. S. Sen. George H. Bender is to resume his old post as co-chairman of the Republican Party's Cuyahoga County organization.

At Wednesday's party convention, the Cleveland News said, Bender will nominate A. L. (Sonny) DeMaiores, the present county chief, as chairman of both the central and executive committee. In turn, Bender will be named vice chairman of both committees.

Bender also said he plans to resign his government post. He now is serving as a special consultant to the Interior Department at $75 per day. He added he expects to be offered another key spot within the government in the near future but hasn't decided whether to accept it.

will then be eligible for federal assistance.

"By that time," the roads bureau spokesman said, "perhaps the traffic will have grown so much that another lane each way will have to be added."

Builders Respect Man's Best Friend

VIRGINIA, Minn. (AP)—Sport, who stole the hearts of his owners before he died seven years ago, will remain undisturbed in his grave.

A construction crew building a road to a telephone company microwave substation north of here came upon the dog's grave last week while cutting timber.

The wooden marker, engraved with the inscription, "Sport, he stole our hearts, but his maker took him back, June 19, 1951," apparently moved the workmen.

The road was rerouted.

New Pipeline OK Asked by Gas Firm

WASHINGTON — Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of Columbus wants to lay about 51 miles of natural gas pipeline across 10 Ohio counties and has asked the Power Commission for authority.

In making the request Monday, the company said it would abandon about 39 miles of pipe and replace it with the new line, which is expected to cost about $2,163,000. Retiring the 39 miles of pipe would cost about $91,000, but the estimated salvage is $109,000.

Looping or replacing sections of the existing lines, the new line would be located in Wayne, Stark, Muskingum, Marion, Lorain, Logan, Fairfield, Cuyahoga, Carroll and Belmont counties.

Construction of Ohio's canal system was authorized by the State Legislature on February 4, 1825.

5 Drug Firms Deny Charges

Polio Vaccine Case Tied to Price-Fix

TRENTON, N.J. — Five big drug companies have issued denials to a federal indictment charging them with violating the antitrust laws in the sale of polio vaccine to government agencies.

A federal grand jury meeting here Monday indicted the five for conspiring to fix prices and eliminate competition in the sale of the vaccine to federal, state and local governments.

Most of the 125 million dollars worth of salk vaccine that had been sold by the end of last year went to public agencies. The bulk of it was purchased under the Polio Myelitis Vaccination Assistance Act of 1955, which provided for the allocation of 53 million dollars in federal funds to the states.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, in charge of the government's antitrust division, said in Washington that the indictments charge the vaccine producers "combined to submit uniform bids to public agencies, to adopt non-competitive terms and conditions of sale and to establish uniform pricing methods."

The firms, Merck & Co. of Rahway, N.J.; American Home Products Corp., New York City; Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis, Ind.; Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit, and Allied Laboratories, Inc., Kansas City, Mo., issued their denials soon after the indictments were made public.

Cutter Laboratories of California was also licensed to produce the vaccine, but the Justice Department said Cutter stopped production at the time of the alleged violations. The company halted production when questions were raised as to the safety of its vaccine.

Ike Asks Foreign Travel Speedup

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has sent Congress a report recommending liberalization of travel restrictions as one of the best means of improving international relations.

The report was prepared for Eisenhower by his special assistant on foreign economic affairs, in meeting a provision of the 1957 Mutual Security Act which called for a study, under presidential direction, of ways to promote international travel.

in more local governments quietly slip their hands out of our pockets.

The occasion is National Tax Freedom Holiday, the first day in 1958 on which the taxpayer can call his earned dollar his own.

Until today every dollar earned by the average taxpayer theoretically has gone into government tills from the local town hall to the U. S. Treasury.

The observance of Tax Freedom Day is 10 years old but few people are aware of it. There's little attendant fanfare. Why?

"The taxpayers can't afford it," says T. S. Burnett, president of the California Taxpayers' Assn., one of the day's tax-conscious sponsors.

National Tax Freedom Holiday was originated in 1948 by Dallas L. Hostetter, executive director of the Florida State Retailers' Assn.

It is designed, says Hostetter, "to dramatize the over-all tax burden which the average American is carrying."

Tax Freedom Day is a movable holiday which, thus far, has proven to be movable largely in one direction—forward. It has reached the 133rd day now, more than one-third through the year.

The first Tax Freedom Day was observed April 27, 1948. Last year the date was May 10. Had there been such a day in 1920, it would have been Feb. 28.

The date is figured by a simple mathematical formula.

Take the estimated total tax receipts of all governments in the United States—125 billion dollars. Divide that by the estimated personal income of all the people in the United States—342.8 billion. Answer: 36.4 per cent.

Now take 36.4 per cent of the 365-day year. Answer: 133 days. The 133rd day of the year is May 13.

Motorist Held Captive on Bridge

TOLEDO — A freighter had just passed on the Maumee River Monday and bridge tender Ray Fech was lowering the two lift leaves on the Cherry Street Bridge.

From the east end, Richard Kinkaid's car crashed through a guard gate and bounced onto the inclined east side life.

Fech said he was met with verbal abuse so he phoned police, held the automobile captive by keeping the bridge mechanism at half mast.

Kinkaid pleaded innocent in Municipal Court to a drunk driving charge.

Missionary-Hero Dies at Age 74

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Dr. Corydon M. Wassell, the modest medical missionary whose heroism during World War II was the theme of a novel and motion picture, died in his apartment of a heart attack Monday. He was 74.

As a lieutenant commander in World War II, Wassell evacuated 12 badly wounded men under heavy Japanese gunfire, saving them from certain capture. He won the Navy Cross for the deed.

James Hilton, the novelist, wrote "The Story of Dr. Wassell." Born here, Wassell became a medical missionary to China.

Middletown Woman Violates Probation

CINCINNATI — Mrs. Daisy Faye Manning, 26, of Middletown, must spend two years in prison on an old conviction for forging and cashing a government check.

Born here, Wassell became a medical missionary to China.

New Pipeline OK Asked by Gas Firm

WASHINGTON — Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of Columbus wants to lay about 51 miles of natural gas pipeline across 10 Ohio counties and has asked the Power Commission for authority.

In making the request Monday, the company said it would abandon about 39 miles of pipe and replace it with the new line, which is expected to cost about $2,163,000. Retiring the 39 miles of pipe would cost about $91,000, but the estimated salvage is $109,000.

Looping or replacing sections of the existing lines, the new line would be located in Wayne, Stark, Muskingum, Marion, Lorain, Logan, Fairfield, Cuyahoga, Carroll and Belmont counties.

Construction of Ohio's canal system was authorized by the State Legislature on February 4, 1825.

5 Drug Firms Deny Charges

Polio Vaccine Case Tied to Price-Fix

TRENTON, N.J. — Five big drug companies have issued denials to a federal indictment charging them with violating the antitrust laws in the sale of polio vaccine to government agencies.

A federal grand jury meeting here Monday indicted the five for conspiring to fix prices and eliminate competition in the sale of the vaccine to federal, state and local governments.

Most of the 125 million dollars worth of sale vaccine that had been sold by the end of last year went to public agencies. The bulk of it was purchased under the Polio Myelitis Vaccination Assistance Act of 1955, which provided for the allocation of 53 million dollars in federal funds to the states.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, in charge of the government's antitrust division, said in Washington that the indictments charge the vaccine producers "combined to submit uniform bids to public agencies, to adopt non-competitive terms and conditions of sale and to establish uniform pricing methods."

The firms, Merck & Co. of Rahway, N.J.; American Home Products Corp., New York City; Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis, Ind.; Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit, and Allied Laboratories, Inc., Kansas City, Mo., issued their denials soon after the indictments were made public.

Cutter Laboratories of California was also licensed to produce the vaccine, but the Justice Department said Cutter stopped production at the time of the alleged violations. The company halted production when questions were raised as to the safety of its vaccine.

It's Time To Celebrate: It's 'Tax Freedom Day'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Are you still smarting from the effects of April 15, when you paid your annual tribute to Uncle Sam? Then this story should provide some balm because the money you earn for the rest of the year is theoretically your very own.

Ike Asks Foreign Travel Speedup

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has sent Congress a report recommending liberalization of travel restrictions as one of the best means of improving international relations.

The report was prepared for Eisenhower by his special assistant on foreign economic affairs, in meeting a provision of the 1957 Mutual Security Act which called for a study, under presidential direction, of ways to promote international travel.

in more local governments quietly slip their hands out of our pockets.

The occasion is National Tax Freedom Holiday, the first day in 1958 on which the taxpayer can call his earned dollar his own.

Until today every dollar earned by the average taxpayer theoretically has gone into government tills from the local town hall to the U.S. Treasury.

The observance of Tax Freedom Day is 10 years old but few people are aware of it. There's little attendant fanfare. Why?

"The taxpayers can't afford it," says T. S. Burnett, president of the California Taxpayers' Assn., one of the day's tax-conscious sponsors.

National Tax Freedom Holiday was originated in 1948 by Dallas L. Hostetler, executive director of the Florida State Retailers' Assn.

It is designed, says Hostetler, "to dramatize the over-all tax burden which the average American is carrying."

Tax Freedom Day is a movable holiday which, thus far, has proven to be movable largely in one direction—forward. It has reached the 133rd day now, more than one-third through the year.

The first Tax Freedom Day was observed April 27, 1948. Last year the date was May 10. Had there been such a day in 1920, it would have been Feb. 28.

The date is figured by a simple mathematical formula.

Take the estimated total tax receipts of all governments in the United States—125 billion dollars. Divide that by the estimated personal income of all the people in the United States—342.8 billion. Answer: 36.4 per cent.

Now take 36.4 per cent of the 365-day year. Answer: 133 days. The 133rd day of the year is May 13.

TOLEDO — A freighter had just passed on the Maumee River Monday and bridge tender Ray Fech was lowering the two lift leaves on the Cherry Street Bridge.

Fech said he was met with verbal abuse so he phoned police, held the automobile captive by keeping the bridge mechanism at half mast.

Kinkaid pleaded innocent in Municipal Court to a drunk driving charge.

Willie Mays Finds Dodgers Still Cousins

Los Angeles Move Fails To Change Bums For Giants Slugger

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Weep no more for Willie, now that Mays has unfrocked those Los Angeles Dodgers and discovered they're his old Brooklyn buddies.

After 22 games with San Francisco this season, Willie was battling a dandy .372, but folks were concerned. The kid who had led the Giants in home runs and runs-batted-in for four years had only nine extra-base hits, only one a homer, while knocking in just nine runs.

Then he recognized those Dodgers, the guys he's always killed, and Willie started belting. In three games against Los Angeles he's rapped five home runs, driven in 11.

Mays hit a pair of homers, one his second grand slam in the majors, and had five RBI Monday night as the Giants ripped the Dodgers 12-3 and moved back within a half-game of the National League lead with their fifth straight victory.

It was the fourth consecutive defeat for the Dodgers, who plunked into the cellar for the first time since July 2, 1948. The St. Louis Cardinals quit a three-week stay in eighth place by winning their fifth in a row, 6-4 at Chicago, in the only other game scheduled.

Stan Musial doubled for his 2,999th hit, but after grounding out three times was "benched for hitting" by Manager Fred Hutchinson for today's game with the Cubs. Unless he's needed as a pinch-hitter, the Cards figure to save The Man's 3,000th hit for the home fans.

Mays triggered a 17-hit attack as the Giants made it five in a row over Los Angeles. Daryl Spencer also counted two homers. Ruben Gomez won his third, all against the Dodgers, with a six-hitter and fanned 10 to take the NL knockout lead with 32.

Mays tagged loser Don Drysdale (1-6) for his first homer in the third. Then he cleared the left field screen at the Coliseum by plying on a bases-loaded pitch from Ed Roebuck that capped a six-run fifth in which all the runs were unearned.

A four-run fifth, on four singles and two errors, bagged it for the Cards as right-hander Phil Paine collected a 2-0 record in two days. Glen Hobbie was the loser, blowing a 3-0 lead after Ernie Banks hit his seventh homer, with a man on, in the third.

The first home run was the toughest for Neil Chrissy. Four games ago he never had hit one in the majors. Now he has three for Washington, and it's no coincidence that the Senators are still second in the American League, two games from the top.

The 25-year-old outfielder, traded out of the Boston Red Sox farm system to the Nats in 1955, was up 51 times without a homer as a rookie last season. He didn't get one in his first 14 at-bats this season.

Now he's hit three in seven trips, hauling the Senators to a 5-4 victory over the Red Sox Monday night on a shot that bounced off center fielder Jim Piersall's glove into the bleachers at Griffith Stadium for a two-run homer.

A home run won for Kansas City, too, as Woody Held picked one in the 11th that beat the Chicago White Sox 2-1 and ended the A's losing string at six in the only other game scheduled.

Chrissy, carried as a pinch-hitter by the Nats, has banged his homers in three games.

Chrissy started Monday night's game and cracked a 3-3 tie with his homer, giving the Senators a 6-1 record against the Red Sox. Dick Hyde won his third with a six-hit, five-strikeout job over 5 1-3 innings in relief of Hal Griggs.

The game was delayed an hour and 15 minutes by a power failure at Washington.

Max Reeser Wins Two Firsts In Muskingum Relay Events

Williamsport's Max Reeser captured both the mile and half mile Saturday at the Muskingum Invitational Relays held at Muskingum College. Gary Valentine, the Saltercreek Twp. star junior athlete, won the pole vault to account for three firsts won by Pickaway County schools.

This was Reeser's first attempt at the mile this year and his clocking was an excellent 4:48.3. Saltercreek's Valentine followed Reeser in this event with a time of 4:49.2.

Reeser had been running his specialty, the 440-yard dash, and the half mile during county competition and was undefeated in these events. His brother Bob also ran the mile at Muskingum, coming in sixth with a time of 4:59.2.

Reeser was not pushed in the 880-yard run, winning in a time of 2:07.5. According to coach Glen Chester, if Max had been pushed in this event he could have broken the record, which was 2:05.3.

VALENTINE won the pole vault with a leap of 10'6" and teammate George Clifton won a tie for third. Williamsport's Bruce

Bragan Plans Shakeup in Tribe Lineup

DETROIT — Manager Bobby Bragan plans a number of changes in the Cleveland lineup for the opening of a three-game series here tonight against Detroit.

Carroll Hardy, who has been in center field only against southpaw pitchers, will play tonight even though a right-hander, Frank Lary, pitches for the Tigers.

"Carroll wants to play every day and I think he deserves the chance," Bragan said Monday. "I've got to start using him against right-handers and it might as well be Tuesday night."

Bragan said that would mean Roger Maris, who hits well in Briggs Stadium, would not be in the lineup because he wants to keep Minnie Minoso in left field and Rocky Colavito in right.

"Bragan also announced that he would bench Billy Moran, move Bobby Avila to second base, play Preston Ward at third and send Mickey Vernon to first base.

That will give Bragan his hottest hitters in one lineup—Avila, Hardy, Ward, Vernon and Colavito.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, who has a 3-1 record, will be on the mound for the Indians tonight against Lary (2-2). The rookie right-hander beat Lary the last time the two met.

Stan Musial doubled for his 2,999th hit, but after grounding out three times was "benched for hitting" by Manager Fred Hutchinson for today's game with the Cubs. Unless he's needed as a pinch-hitter, the Cards figure to save The Man's 3,000th hit for the home fans.

Mays triggered a 17-hit attack as the Giants made it five in a row over Los Angeles. Daryl Spencer also counted two homers. Ruben Gomez won his third, all against the Dodgers, with a six-hitter and fanned 10 to take the NL strikeout lead with 32.

Mays tagged loser Don Drysdale (1-6) for his first homer in the third. Then he cleared the left field screen at the Coliseum by plenty on a bases-loaded pitch from Ed Roebuck that capped a six-run fifth in which all the runs were unearned.

A four-run fifth, on four singles and two errors, bagged it for the Cards as right-hander Phil Paine collected a 2-0 record in two days. Glen Hobbie was the loser, blowing a 3-0 lead after Ernie Banks hit his seventh homer, with a man on, in the third.

The first home run was the toughest for Neil Chrissy. Four games ago he never had hit one in the majors. Now he has three for Washington, and it's no coincidence that the Senators are still second in the American League, two games from the top.

The 25-year-old outfielder, traded out of the Boston Red Sox farm system to the Nats in 1953, was up 51 times without a homer as a rookie last season. He didn't get one in his first 14 at-bats this season.

Now he's hit three in seven trips, hauling the Senators to a 5-4 victory over the Red Sox Monday night on a shot that bounced off center fielder Jim Piersall's glove into the bleachers at Griffith Stadium for a two-run homer.

A home run won for Kansas City, too, as Woody Held picked one in the 11th that beat the Chicago White Sox 2-1 and ended the A's losing string at six in the only other game scheduled.

Chrissy, carried as a pinch-hitter by the Nats, has banged his homers in three games.

Chrissy started Monday night's game and cracked a 3-3 tie with his homer, giving the Senators a 6-1 record against the Red Sox. Dick Hyde won his third with a six-hit, five-strikeout job over 5 1-3 innings in relief of Hal Griggs.

The game was delayed an hour and 15 minutes by a power failure at Washington.

Max Reeser Wins Two Firsts In Muskingum Relay Events

Williamsport's Max Reeser captured both the mile and half mile Saturday at the Muskingum Invitational Relays held at Muskingum College. Gary Valentine, the Salter Creek Twp. star junior athlete, won the pole vault to account for three firsts won by Pickaway County schools.

This was Reeser's first attempt at the mile this year and his clocking was an excellent, 4:48.3. Salter Creek's Valentine followed Reeser in this event with a time of 4:49.2.

Reeser had been running his specialty, the 440-yard dash, and the half mile during county competition and was undefeated in these events. His brother Bob also ran the mile at Muskingum, coming in sixth with a time of 4:59.2.

Reeser was not pushed in the 880-yard run, winning in a time of 2:07.5. According to coach Glen Chester, if Max had been pushed in this event he could have broken the record, which was 2:05.3.

VALENTINE won the pole vault with a leap of 10'6" and teammate George Clifton won a tie for third. Williamsport's Bruce

Clark also tied for third place. Keith Turvey, Salter Creek, and Clark, Williamsport, tied for second place in the high jump. Salter Creek's Jack Fout garnered a fourth in the 220-yard dash.

The relays were won by New Lexington St. Aloysius with a total of 66 2-3 points. Following New Lexington were Millersburg, 36 4-5; Fredericktown, 32 4-5; Johnstown, 19 1-5; Granville, 15; Williamsport 12 4-5; Salter Creek, 12 4-5; Chesapeake, 12 3-5; Brewster, 12; Shreve, 11; Hayesville, 5 3-5; Centerburg, O.

Williamsport will enter seven youths in the district meet to be held at Delaware Saturday. They include Eddie James, Kenny Sarkey, Bruce Clark, Max Reeser, Bob Reeser, Sam Reeser and Tom Barnes.

Bragan Plans Shakeup in Tribe Lineup

DETROIT — Manager Bobby Bragan plans a number of changes in the Cleveland lineup for the opening of a three-game series here tonight against Detroit.

Carroll Hardy, who has been in center field only against southpaw pitchers, will play tonight even though a right-hander, Frank Lary, pitches for the Tigers.

"Carroll wants to play every day and I think he deserves the chance," Bragan said Monday. "I've got to start using him against right-handers and it might as well be Tuesday night."

Bragan said that would mean Roger Maris, who hits well in Briggs Stadium, would not be in the lineup because he wants to keep Minnie Minoso in left field and Rocky Colavito in right.

Bragan also announced that he would bench Billy Moran, move Bobby Avila to second base, play Preston Ward at third and send Mickey Vernon to first base.

That will give Bragan his hottest hitters in one lineup—Avila, Hardy, Ward, Vernon and Colavito.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, who has a 3-1 record, will be on the mound for the Indians tonight against Lary (2-2). The rookie right-hander beat Lary the last time the two met.

Olympic Wrestler Turns Boxing Pro

NEW YORK — "This boy learns terrifically fast. He can go places."

That was George Gainford's appraisal of Dan Hodge, the two-time Olympic wrestler and national Golden Gloves heavyweight boxing champion, who officially announced his decision to become a pro fighter Monday.

"He's got a good punch, ability to learn fast, height, weight and strength—but most important that ability of his to pick up things in a hurry," said Big George.

Dan has been boxing only about seven months and won all 17 of his amateur bouts, 12 by knockouts. He was a member of the 1952 and 1956 Olympic mat teams.

10 Rounds of Golf Take Man 12 Hours

WICHITA, Kan. — Jim Hershberger, 28-year-old truck line operator, toured a golf course 10 times Monday and finished 170 strokes over par.

It took Hershberger 12 hours and 51 minutes with a brief timeout for treatment of a wrenched knee. His score was 88; for the 180 holes. He did the marathon stint on a dare.

No New Faces, Now Expected For Running of Preakness

BALTIMORE — A pair of elimination races brought no apparent new faces today to a probable Preakness field dominated by the first four from the Kentucky Derby.

With four days to go for entries, the solid lineup consisted of nine for Saturday's second $100,000 leg of the Triple Crown. A few more 3-year-olds were still on the rail for the mile and three-sixteenths classic at Pimlico.

Tuneups in the Preakness Prep and the Withers Mile at Belmont Monday strengthened the resolve of only Mrs. Richard E. Lunn to

Ashville Nine, Darby Meet For Loop Title

Darby and Ashville will meet today at Ashville to decide the Pickaway County baseball championship for 1958. The game starts at 3:30 p.m.

Both teams enter the contest with 2-0 county records. Both represented Pickaway County in the district tournament, with both losing their first games of the tourney.

Ashville suffered a 17-3 defeat yesterday at the hands of Greenville. It was a Darby Valley League test for the Broncos.

Dick Wilcox started on the mound for Ashville but gave way to Frank Gloyd. Bill Neal handled catching duties.

Henry went the distance for Greenville. The Broncos now stand 4-4 for the season.

2 Long Shots Set Up Lebanon Daily Double

LEBANON — Two long shots turned in the only surprise victories at Lebanon Raceway Monday night, but they combined for a $292 daily double.

Sir Michael, with Roy Butt driving, moved up fast in the stretch to nose out the favorite, Leon Spencer, and win the first race. Sir Michael paid $42.40 to win.

In the second race, Mary Widow, rated 22-1, took the lead at the start and went on to a 2 1/2 length victory, returning $46.40 to win.

CHS Tackles Wilmington

Circleville's baseball Tigers, defending a 6-0 league record and first place head for Wilmington today for a test with the Hurricane.

The front running Tigers defeated Wilmington here 15-1 earlier in the season. However, the Hurricane has been playing better ball since that defeat and will have a marked advantage on the home field.

Coaches Dick Boyd and Dick Fisher will have all four regular pitchers at their disposal for today's test. The big four consists of Mike Hosler, Don Rowland, Joe Adkins and Duane Dean.

Other probable starters will find John Wright behind the plate. Bill Purcell at first, Hosler or Rowland at second, Cal Ellis at short, Bill Dickenson or Asa Elsea at third, Dick Smith in left, Jim Woods in center and Harry Strawser in right.

Seghi Named as Boss Of Redleg Farm Plans

CINCINNATI — Phil Seghi, who joined the Cincinnati Redlegs administration three years ago, is the new director of the team's minor league farm system, succeeding Bill McKechnie Jr.

McKechnie resigned Monday because of ill health and said he will move to Florida to enter private business, but will continue as a part-time Redleg scout.

Seghi has been acting farm director for the past six weeks.

Schmidt Showing Some Progress

NEW YORK (AP)—Peter Schmidt is making progress. The sharp-faced welterweight earned a draw with favored Eddie Lynch in the all-New York 10-round television feature fight at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night. In his last two starts in the same arena, Schmidt lost split decisions to Tony De Biase.

Referee Harry Ebbets voted for Lynch, 6-3-1. Judge Jack Gordon had Schmidt ahead, 5-4-1. Judge Mike Davidowitch called it a draw. He gave each 5 rounds.

Steel Chief Urges Caution by Unions

CLEVELAND (AP)—C. M. White, chairman of Republic Steel Corp., says the United Automobile Workers and United Steelworkers "will be many, many times better off with a conservative attitude toward wages than they will if they keep riding the inflation merry-go-round."

He made the statement Monday night in addressing a dinner meeting of the Assn. of Stock Exchange Firms.

Declaring that wage talks now underway are an important factor to watch, White said:

"An inflationary auto settlement would be bad news, for it would have an inevitable effect on prices."

Steel Chief Urges Caution by Unions

CLEVELAND (AP)—C. M. White, chairman of Republic Steel Corp., says the United Automobile Workers and United Steelworkers "will be many, many times better off with a conservative attitude toward wages than they will if they keep riding the inflation merry-go-round."

He made the statement Monday night in addressing a dinner meeting of the Assn. of Stock Exchange Firms.

Declaring that wage talks now underway are an important factor to watch, White said:

"An inflationary auto settlement would be bad news, for it would have an inevitable effect on prices."

Cancer Deaths Show Increase During 1957

Cancer deaths in Ohio during 1957 increased more than eight per cent over the previous year according to a report released by the Ohio Division of the American Cancer Society and made public here today by the Society's Pickaway County Unit.

According to Hal D. Dickenson, President of the Pickaway County Unit, the report on the number of cancer deaths is based on provisional figures recently released by the Ohio Department of Health to the state headquarters of the American Cancer Society. He said permanent tabulations are not expected before May 30th and if anything they will show an increase in the number of cancer deaths.

The report shows that in 1957, 35 persons in Pickaway County lost their bout with cancer. In 1956 36 county residents died of the disease. This represents a 3 per cent decrease.

State-wide last year, 15,411 Ohioans died of cancer while in the previous year 14,163 cancer deaths were recorded. Of Ohio's 83 counties, 52 showed a decrease in cancer deaths for 1957 while 33 counties recorded an increase.

ON THE brighter side, the Ohio Division report pointed out that more than 7,489 Ohioans were cured of cancer last year. At the same time the report noted that before 1953 comes to a close, 22,559 Ohio residents will be diagnosed as cancer patients for the first time and 37,400 of our citizens will be under medical care for cancer.

Officials of the Pickaway County Unit point out that half of those who get cancer each year could and should be saved through early detection of cancer and prompt and adequate treatment. Knowledge of cancer's early warning signals and periodic health check-ups are your best cancer insurance, according to the American Cancer Society.

Boris Karloff brought the Frankenstein monster to life for millions of movie-goers and thanks to Charles Laughton, we all know precisely what Capt. William Bligh of HMS Bounty must have been like.

Now Hollywood is giving flesh and blood to what have been called "the most desirable women in America"—a couple of cuties named Griselda and Darling Jill. They've never really existed before because they are characters in Erskine Caldwell's best-selling novel God's Little Acre and Caldwell "very cleverly avoided any physical descriptions." He wanted every male to see these girls according to his own dreams and desires.

More than eight million copies of God's Little Acre have been sold, and most of the men who have read it say these two Georgia farm girls are without doubt the loveliest in American literature.

version of the book, the movie makers realized that the girls would have to resemble the mental pictures of all these readers, as well as that of their creator, Caldwell himself.

With no vital statistics to guide him, casting chief Anthony Mann soon found his Griselda, "the most madly desirable of the two," in svelte, bosomy Tina Louise. As Apollonia von Klimax in the Broadway show Lil Abner, she was a treat to the eye, and the National Art council had named her "The world's most beautiful redhead."

Says Mann, "Griselda just has to stand still to make men go up in flames." But in the book, Griselda does a bit more than just "stand still"—that's why God's Little Acre is one of the most controversial novels in American letters.

Finding a flesh-and-blood version of Darling Jill was another matter, for she is "the more aggressive type... a man hunter whose prey enjoys becoming the victim." Pluto Swint, the fictional character who unsuccessfully pursues her, says, "It's a pity God can't make a woman like Darling Jill and then leave off before going too far... He didn't know when He had made enough of a good thing!"

More than 150 females were considered for this role before it went to a blond bonanza named Fay Spain. The movie makers concluded that Fay's "let's-go-get-'em" type was just the right contrast they needed to Tina Louise's "passive high-temperature come-and-get-me-type."

As personified on the screen by Fay Spain and Tina Louise, Darling Jill and Griselda will at last emerge from the dusty book shelves and become real human beings. Movie fans who want to know more about their exploits on God's Little Acre may well put Erskine's tempestuous novel back on the best-seller list!

Safety Auto of Tomorrow

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Association
Correspondent

BUFFALO, N. Y.—It looks like an ordinary smart late model automobile and rides and performs like one, but inside it is like nothing you ever saw on four wheels, and over-all it embodies all the passenger safety ideas that may be incorporated into cars in the years immediately ahead.

This is "the car that went to college," with a "scholarship" furnished by an insurance company, and while it is really a "no-name" car, it already is widely known throughout the automobile industry as the 1958 Cornell-Liberty.

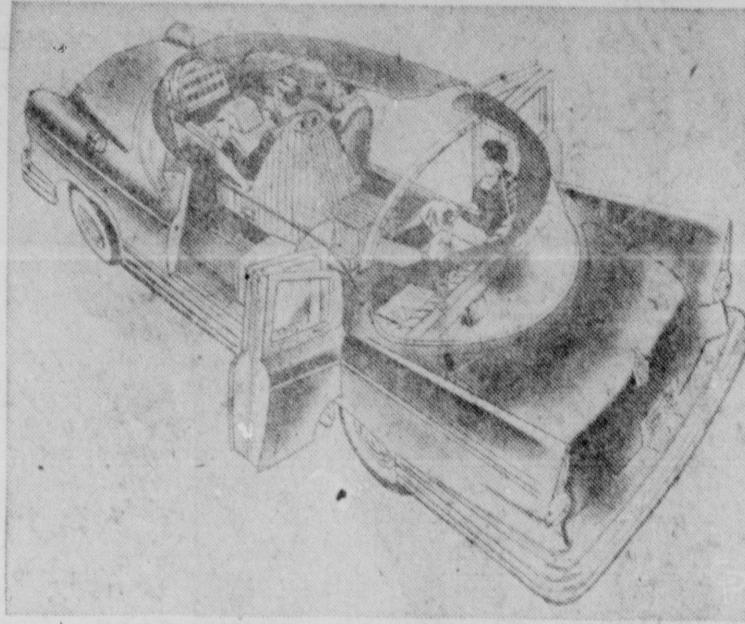

The dream automobile is the culmination of five years of hair-raising, body bruising and steel twisting crash tests and other research done by the Cornell Aeronautical laboratory, affiliated with Cornell university, under an original research plan outlined by the Liberty Mutual Insurance company, which also lent technical assistance.

Many conventional cars have actually been smashed up deliberately to determine how best to "package" the driver and other occupants for survival in the super-highway age when cruising speeds are expected to increase steadily and perhaps electronic driving strips in the pavement will take over some of the routine steering for long stretches.

The first conventional fixture of present-day cars to go by the boards in the design was the steering wheel, which has been replaced by a "driving bar." With the auxiliary controls for lights, horn, etc., mounted in the right and left handles. The bar has a variable ratio, so that at first a slight pressure turns the wheels a lot, but later the response is slower.

The driver has a "conning tower perspective," and sits in the middle of what once was the area occupied by the front seat. His curved windshield is 180 degrees of constant bend so that distortion of vision is eliminated. Gone is the era of the one-armed driver out with his best girl.

Another feature of current design that is cast into the discard by the safety planners are the clear-across front and back seats. Substituted are bucket seats—now seen in some sports jobs—one on each side of the driver, each set

This cutaway drawing shows the unusual arrangement of six bucket seats complete with belts and headrests; absence of steering wheel in favor of handlebars and "living room salon" effect instead of present parallel seating. back three inches and three inches lower than his; a unique bucket seat that faces to the rear and back's up to the driver and two rear bucket seats.

Tests show that bucket seats not only are safer, but are less fatiguing for a long haul. Built into them are retractable safety belts designed to encourage more use than often is made of present models, because they are more handy to take on and off. Also there are headrests to come with the mounting menace of "whiplash" injuries to the neck and head.

The seats up front are further protected by cushioned panels that lower over the knees of the occupants after they are seated. The driver has his speedometer and cluster of instruments centered right in front of him, but well below driving vision level. Red dashboard lights flash trouble signals. Gear shifting is by push-button, and there are retractable windshield wipers, three on the front glass and two on the rear. An entirely new concept of doors is incorporated into the design. They open like those of a phone booth, rolling forward in accordion style, and are secured by bars when the car is traveling. The driver can open and close both doors without moving from his post.

Bumpers also are revolutionary, virtually encircling the car with side bands as well as curved flanges front and rear. Ventilation is by an air scoop at roof level to get above carbon monoxide fumes, and it maintains a slight positive pressure inside at all times to keep the noxious road gases out.

The big problem of the designers was to incorporate all this without coming up with too much of a "space ship" or mechanical effect, which everyday motorists

Police Seek Man Who Fired Shots Into House Door

PIKETON (AP)—Law enforcement officers searched today for a man who fired a gun through the door of a home, then left, threatening to come back and shoot up the place.

The State Highway Patrol said James Searaigs, 50, was being sought after he fired through the door of the Arbie Nichols residence, one mile south of nearby Cynthia Monday night.

The patrol said Searaigs had asked for Sam Fugitt, who resides there. When Nichols advised him that Fugitt wasn't there, Searaigs drew a gun, Nichols slammed the door shut and jumped to one side as Searaigs fired several times through the door. The patrol said Nichols wasn't hit.

Searaigs then departed, saying he would be back to shoot up the house until he got Fugitt, who supposedly had stabbed him back in 1935, the patrol related.

would reject as too technical. Most people who ride in the car say that they have succeeded in creating a "living room interior" effect, combining maximum safety with style.

Why people who love CONVERTIBLES buy FORD

Only Ford lets you choose from a steel-top convertible or a fabric-top beauty. Who else but Ford... world's largest convertible maker... could offer you two different kinds of convertibles. There's the fabric-top Ford Sunliner and the steel-top Ford Skyliner... world's only retractable hardtop. They're both styled and powered in the Thunderbird tradition. You'll see at a glance why they're both the value leaders of the convertible world.

Nowhere else can you find so much convertible for so little money. Take the Ford Sunliner for example. A comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices shows it's America's lowest-priced convertible. Yet Ford's closest competitor can't touch the Sunliner for rear seat leg room, trunk space or ease of top operation. As for the Skyliner, it's the world's only 2-in-1 fine car... a snug steel-top and a breezy convertible. Just touch a button. The all-steel top vanishes smoothly into the rear deck... and you're sitting pretty in the smartest convertible ever. It's another example of the advanced engineering you get in every Ford car.

So if you're the sun-worshipping type, better see your Ford Dealer and get all the reasons why Ford outsells its nearest competitor in convertibles by a whopping 2-to-1 margin!
